Shuttle explosion delays engine test at NSTL

BY DENA BISNETTE

A Friday test of three space shuttle engines has been postponed, but otherwise work is continuing for Hancock County residents involved in the space program following Tuesday's explosion of the space shuttle Columbia.

The Columbia exploded shortly after take-off, killing the five-man, one-woman crew and Concord, N.H., teacher Crista McAuliffe, the first passenger in NASA's "Citizens in Space" program.

Mack Herring, public affairs director for NASA's National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County, called the event "a tragedy" and said the largest test of space shuttle engines ever scheduled at NSTL has been postponed until further notice.

"We had planned a test of three shuttle main engines Friday. They would have been fired at 100 percent, the highest power we have ever tested in a cluster," he explained.

The test crew at NSTL, where shuttle main engines have been tested since 1975, is on standby to assist with NASA's investigation into the accident.

Herring said he does not know yet if NSTL will become directly involved in the investigation.

He said NSTL personnel were not directly participating in the shuttle mission, but have been working closely with the state's teachers on McAuliffe's project and had distributed about 10,000 of the lesson plans she had been scheduled to teach from space this week.

Many NSTL employees were watching when the shuttle exploded on live television.

"We were all shocked when we saw it. After about 25 years with NASA I've found it to be a pretty close knit team," Herring reported.

"Most of the crew had visited here at various times. The main crew always visited the centers where the components were made and this one was of particular interest to them because we test the engines. It hit us harder because we knew these people," Herring said.

"These people were some of the best and brightest the country is producing right now."

He said he "has no idea" at this time how the event will affect the shuttle program or the Citizens In Space program.

A spokesperson for Martin Marietta's Michoud Division in New Orleans, La., said it is too early to speculate on the cause of the accident but added that Michoud is assisting in NASA's investigation.

Michoud manufactures the external fuel tanks for the shuttle.

Former Martin Marietta employee Victor Frankiewicz Jr., mayor of Bay St. Louis, said he had seen a television report concerning the accident.

"I was shocked and saddened at the loss of seven human lives," he said.

He had heard some of the early speculation that an external tank had exploded and said he had not heard of any problems with the tanks during the previous 24 shuttle flights.

"If it turns out to be the tank, it will be the first time to my knowledge that they have found a problem in more than 20 flights. Those things are made to incredibly rigid quality control standards."

"It's horrible. It's just like any wake, any funeral. You have to be a part of it, particularly because we feel kind of close to the space program with NSTL here," said Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr.

"We feel deep hurt and wish to extend an expression of sympathy. NASA is like family to us."

Congressman Trent Lott and a group of Mississippians on his staff were in his Washington, D.C. office when the explosion occurred, Lott's Aide Susan Irby said.

Occhi to succeed Thomas at Coast Electric Power

Robert Occhi of Gulfport, assistant manager of Coast Electric Power Association headquartered in Bay St. Louis, will succeed Coast

Manager Henry Thomas March 10.

Thomas has resigned to become manager in early March of South Mississippi Electric Power Association headquartered in Hattiesburg.

Occhi, a Gulfport native with degrees from Louisiana State University, has been with Coast Electric since 1974, following distinguished service as an officer in the United States Army.

Employed originally as systems engineer, he has served as manager of engineering, manager of engineering and operations, and since August, 1985 as assistant manager.

He is a member of the City of Bay St. Louis Electrical Board and the International Association of Electrical Inspectors, the Mississippi Society of Professional Engineers, vice president of the Hancock County Exchange Club and serves on the Board of Directors of St. John's High School.

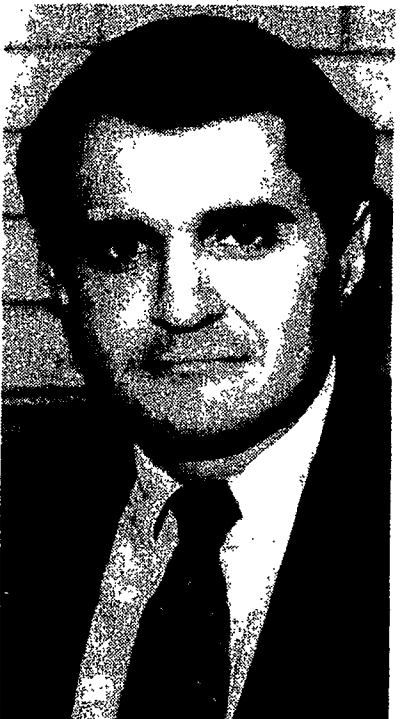

Occhi and his wife, the former Gail Harkins, reside in Northwood Hills with their six children.

Coast Electric President Gordon Lee stated, "It is with regret that the resignation of Thomas is accepted, but Coast Electric is extremely fortunate in having a person of Bob Occhi's background as manager."

"His knowledge of Coast Electric and its membership will assist Coast Electric in its continuous effort to provide the best possible service at the lowest possible cost," Lee stated.

Thomas, an employee of Coast Electric for 16 years, is known throughout the Coastal area and has been active in numerous civic and social clubs.

Nationally, he is recognized as an outstanding promoter of rural America.

He has served as secretary of the Resolutions Committee of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, engaged in developing policy and procedure, and actively working with the Congress.

Presently he represents Mississippi as its director on the board of this national organization.

In 1982 he was selected to work in the Peoples Republic of China as a team member, promoting the exporting of rural electrification.

Under Thomas' leadership Coast Electric has experienced rapid growth, and is recognized as one of the more progressive and efficiently operated rural electric systems.

He and his wife Carolyn reside in Gulfport with their three children.

Thomas stated that the decision to leave Coast Electric was one of the most difficult of his career, but that the challenge of managing the South Mississippi Association is 'a rare professional opportunity.'

South Mississippi is a generating and transmission cooperative with generating plants in Purvis and Moselle and coal producing lands in Kentucky.

It provides service to eleven distribution cooperatives, including Coast Electric, which serves more than 260,000 members throughout the state.

School board to hear architects, eye possible kindergarten sites

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Bay St. Louis school officials will hear architect proposals today on construction of eight kindergarten classrooms.

Board President Walter Turcotte said the board should be able to choose the architect for the project following the presentation of the proposals.

"We need to move ahead with the project so the classrooms will be ready in time for the opening of school in the fall," Turcotte added.

In compliance with state mandates the kindergarten program must be implemented beginning Sept. 1.

This gives school officials only seven months in which to have the additional classrooms constructed and furnished.

At a special meeting last week to discuss the kindergarten classroom construction project with area architects, one representative of an architectural firm told the board that in order to have the classrooms completed by September an architect should be selected by Feb. 1.

Following the meeting, one firm gave copies of a proposal to board members and others said proposals would be submitted no later than Jan. 30.

In addition to the limited time for the construction, funds for the project are also limited.

Superintendent J. D. McCullough told architects at the meeting that only $350,000 was available to be used for kindergarten construction and furnishings of two classrooms at North Bay Elementary and six classrooms at Waveland Elementary.

He emphasized that air conditioning, rest room facilities and utility installation must also be included in the total amount.

At a special school board meeting Tuesday night, McCullough asked the board to investigate the possibility of constructing all kindergarten classrooms at the Waveland school.

McCullough said having all kindergarten students together could prove to be advantageous and would prevent the project coordinator from having to go from one school to the other.

"This would also necessitate the construction of only one specialized playground area and set of restroom facilities," he said.

"I have had phone calls from parents and board members requesting the matter be looked into," he said.

School board member Betty Diboll stated she didn't think it would be a good idea to separate kindergarten age children from their older brothers or sisters at North Bay.

However, with only two classrooms proposed to be constructed at North Bay, it would be impossible to keep all the students from one family in the same school.

"Some kindergarten students from the Bay area would have to go to Waveland anyway because of the crowded conditions at North Bay," McCullough said.

Currently there are 102 first grade students at North Bay and approximately that number of kindergarten students can be expected.

The two classrooms proposed will only accommodate 44 students.

McCullough added it would not be feasible to put more than two kindergarten classrooms at North Bay because of the cafeteria and restroom limitations.

"With only one serving line at the cafeteria serving the 526 students currently attending North Bay lunch periods are already being cut short," he said.

McCullough also told the board that after preliminary checks with a couple of architects not much difference was expected in construction costs.

So although the school board will be hearing architects proposals today for construction of two classrooms at North Bay and six at Waveland, they will discuss building all classrooms in one location.

Agent seeks unlicensed water well drillers

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Following a rash of complaints on unlicensed water well drillers operating in Hancock County, an investigation is underway to prevent area residents from being "taken in."

"With the increased number of rural water systems, business for water well drillers is very competitive and the number of drillers from out of state has increased," said Johnny Biggert, enforcement officer for the Bureau of Land and Water Resources.

Biggert was in Hancock County this week gathering information on water well drillers operating in the area who apparently do not have a license.

Using a licensed driller is necessary because to compete for the available jobs, drillers whose work is not being monitored by state officials may use sub-standard equipment and not take all precautions needed to reach safe, drinkable water.

When something goes wrong with a well drilled by an unlicensed company, the landowner has no way to get help in most cases, Biggert said.

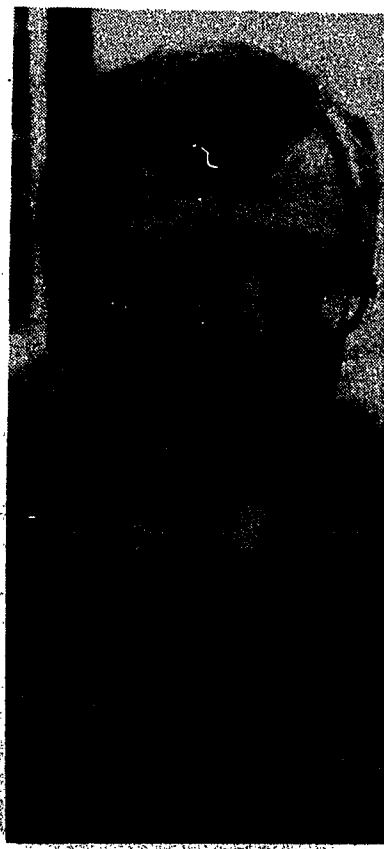

"Many times the landowner is unable to locate the original well driller and others are unable to help because of the lack of records on the well," he added.

A licensed driller is required to file a report on each water well dug within 30 days of completion of the well including information on location, depth, character of rocks or formations drilled and fluids encountered.

Biggert recommends that persons needing a well drilled hire only a company that is licensed.

A list of licensed water well drillers is available through the

ETV Brief

NEW OPERA

"Great Performances" presents a documentary about the widely acclaimed collaboration of composer Philip Glass and theater artist Robert Wilson on their new opera, "Einstein on the Beach," at 9 p.m., Friday, Jan. 31, on Mississippi ETV. The documentary, "Einstein on the Beach: The Changing Image of Opera," includes conversations, rehearsal footage and interviews with Glass and Wilson.

Their new opera is a work that invited the audience to rethink the definition of opera. It is, in the words of Wilson, "...not trying to illustrate Einstein the way history books do; it's trying to present a poetical interpretation of this man."

The opera also has been described as a music theater work that "falls somewhere between a spectacle and a meditation."

School Board to review catastrophic leave policy

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

In a special meeting Tuesday, the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board resolved to review personal policies dealing with catastrophic leave.

The plan for policy review was included in a motion which extended catastrophic leave to teacher Catherine Carter.

Carter had requested a hearing last week following the denial of a request for the extended leave by the board Jan. 20.

At the Jan. 20 meeting the board discussed the incident in an executive session and no reason was released for the denial.

Carter who has not taught since mid-October, originally applied for catastrophic leave in December. Shortly before the Christmas break, the board granted the leave through Dec. 20.

A letter from Carter's doctor was sent to the board saying she was not in a physical condition to return to school in early January. At the regular January meeting, the board decided that there must be an official request for the leave extension from Carter before it could be granted.

The request was then denied at the next meeting.

Receding the denial for the leave Jan. 28, the board granted an extension until Jan. 31 and stated all cases after that time will be ruled on according to the new policy on catastrophic leave.

According to Assistant Superintendent James McGee the state requires school districts to make available nine personal leave and sick leave days and an extension for 10 days or more.

In addition to these 19 days, the Bay school district also offers employees an extra day for each year in the district and extensions for catastrophic accidents or illness.

According to the personnel policies and procedures handbook, catastrophic leave can be extended indefinitely at the board's discretion.

In the review of the catastrophic leave extension, the board is expected to place a limit on the number of days to be included in a catastrophic leave.

Waveland to amend zoning ordinance

BY DENA BISNETTE

Waveland's Planning and Zoning Board is amending the city's zoning ordinance and subdivision regulations for the first time in more than 10 years.

Many of the proposed changes being considered by the board deal with administration and parking spaces.

The board discussed the proposed changes with Engineer Ray Eaton at its Monday afternoon meeting. Eaton will amend the city's present zoning maps to make them consistent with any amendments approved.

Eaton said the amendments are designed to make the ordinance more consistent with current development in Waveland.

Board Secretary Linda Penrose said the present ordinance dates back to 1971.

Zoning Official Arcelyn Dastugue said the changes will be submitted to Board Attorney Lucien Gex for further consideration.

A public hearing will be set to allow city residents to comment on the proposals before the amended ordinance is submitted to the Board of Aldermen for final approval.

A second public hearing is planned for discussion of the city's subdivision regulations, which Penrose said are more up-to-date than the zoning ordinance and are not expected to require major changes.

Proposed amendments to the zoning ordinance include requirements for more parking spaces for commercial buildings and multi-family dwellings like apartment complexes.

The current regulations require only one-half space per employee and one space per dwelling unit. The board members decided that one space per employee and two spaces per unit should be required.

Commercial buildings must also supply a specific number of customer spaces determined by the floor space of each business housed in the building.

The changes regarding administration mostly include title changes for administrators that are designed to clarify the ordinance, Penrose said.

Also amended have been the procedure for determining the side yard distance when a building is situated diagonally on a lot, some requirements regarding the placement of signs on street rights-of-way and parking restrictions near major intersections on the beach.

School attendance down

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Nearly 20 percent of the students in the Bay St. Louis Municipal School District are reportedly out of school this week.

According to Superintendent J. D. McCullouch Wednesday, 331 of 1,960 students were absent, many reportedly suffering from colds or flu.

"Absentees have been high throughout the week but have improved today," he added.

Although a figure of 20 percent may seem high, McCullouch said absentees would have to be 50 percent or more before officials would consider closing the schools.

Absentees on Wednesday include Waveland Elementary, 54; North Bay Elementary, 72; Bay Junior High, 102; and Bay Senior High, 103.

Correction

In an announcement of John Mason's candidacy for school board that appeared in Sunday's edition of the Sea Coast Coast, Mason was incorrectly identified as a graduate of University of Washington.

Mason attended University of Washington and majored in economics but did not obtain a degree. He is a graduate of Kansas City Community College, Kansas City, Kan.

Explosion.....

Irby said Lott himself saw the explosion on a television set placed in the office to allow his staff to watch the launch.

"Because we're all Mississippians, we take a particular interest in the shuttle program. Whenever I see one of those things go up I say this is one of our engines. We were all very concerned when we learned that something had gone wrong," Irby said.

"One thing about this is it really strikes South Mississippi hard because we're kind of part of the shuttle family," Lott said.

"I think it has a profound effect on us. We've tested engines and had astronauts come to South Mississippi."

"The space shuttle program has made life better years ahead but we've always known it had risks associated with it. That was just brought home in a very startling fashion today," Lott added.

"When we find out more about what has happened we will have to assess what the risks are with this program and determine its future. I hope we don't overreact."

At Hancock North Central School, students held a memorial service Wednesday for the seven killed in the explosion.

Assisting in the ceremony were members of several veterans organizations.

Included were Gene Ramsey, Sam Walker, Frank Smith, Bill Bond, Herbert Shlyou and Jim Thompson Kiln Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6285, First District Chaplain H.B. Lewis and Commander Peter Faucetta of Bay St. Louis VFW Post 3253, Virginia Bell, Joe D'Arcy and Commander Harold Speiss of Ansley VFW Post 4806, James Walthour and Hugh Sanford of the Bay St. Louis chapter of Disabled American Veterans and Vera Ramsey and Shirli Thompson of the Post 6285 Ladies Auxiliary Unit.

One of the witnesses at that service was first grade teacher Kinta Maloney, who had considered applying to be the teacher in space but had found that she could not qualify because she had too recently returned to active teaching after having served as an administrator.

"I would still go if I could. I had watched an Apollo launch and found it a thrilling experience, but it would be the ultimate to go up," Maloney said.

"Of course you think that could have been me," but it could be you any morning you back your car out of the driveway."

She said that although her students are still very young, they had been learning about the shuttle and she feels they understood what happened.

"My kids talk about the shuttle engine tests. They tell me they can feel their houses shaking. I think they're very aware of what has happened."

"It's hard to put into words. I think many felt shock and disbelief, but I don't think it will deter American pioneers in space any more than an Indian attack would have deterred the first pioneers," Maloney added. Ollie Oliver, who teaches fifth grade at North Bay Elementary, said her class had been planning to take part in McAuliffe's lessons from space.

She said her students did not see the launch or the accident until after they went home from school. She said she was called to a room with a television set to watch a replay of the launch and had to explain to her class what had happened.

"They didn't believe me at first. They thought I was joking with them," Oliver said.

Oliver's class spent Wednesday writing letters about the accident.

"We plan to mail them to Kennedy Space Center and send some of the ones expressing condolences to the families of those killed. The students were very shaken up. I think this is the first time that kids all over have really gotten involved in a shuttle mission and they feel like those people were family."

Gambling investigation continues

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

As the gambling investigation following two raids last week continues, police say there will be more arrests.

In addition to the arrests last week there will be charges filed against additional persons in connection with the gambling raids," Bay Police Chief Ray Murphy said.

Totals released this week indicated nearly $100,000 in cash and equipment was confiscated Friday from the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3253 on Third Street and Disabled American Veterans Post 50 on Union Street, both in Bay St. Louis.

Bay Police Chief Ray Murphy said $10,025 in cash along with $3,500 in tokens was taken from the two establishments.

The 24 slot machines, 14 from the VFW post and 10 from the DAV, have an estimated value of more than $75,000.

Murphy also said equipment from a book-making operation was also seized at the VFW.

"There is no telling how much money has gone through this operation which we are still investigating," he added.

Also confiscated in the raids were poker tables and poker chips, Murphy said.

Murphy stated no bingo paraphernalia was seized from either location.

County schools change time card procedures

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County School Board has clarified its policy concerning changes on employee time cards.

The change was partially the result of information obtained during a recent hearing for Hancock North Central School maintenance worker Paul Ladner.

The board agreed that any time card entries written rather than stamped by a time clock should be initiated by the school principal and certified by the principal or by a bookkeeper designated by the principal before being submitted to the central office.

During Ladner's hearing, which dealt with allegations that Ladner had not been paid for the correct number of days worked during September, board members questioned handwritten entries on his card for the dates involved.

Handwritten entries for two days were verified by the principal as days Ladner had worked but had been unable to stamp the card because a power outage resulting from Hurricane Elena had made the time clock unusable.

The third entry, made for the day the hurricane occurred, could not be verified, and Ladner contended that he did not work that day and that someone else had made the entry.

In other business, the board:

—Voted to abolish the position of Hancock North Central maintenance worker and to instead assign district maintenance workers to the school;

—Discussed personnel matters in an executive session meeting;

—Hired a teacher assistant, elementary teacher, substitute teacher, janitor, bus driver and several substitute bus drivers;

—Approved a proposal to apply for Educational Finance Commission funds for the district's building program;

—Approved several out-of-state trips for the Hancock North Central Band, which will participate in Mardi Gras parades; and —Set a student expulsion hearing. The board meets again Feb. 3.

Military Mention

SEAMAN SMITH

Navy Seaman Recruit Reginald L. Smith, son of John L. and Clara C. Smith of 904 Snyder St., Picayune, has completed recruit training at Recruit Training Command, San Diego.

During Smith's eight-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic fields.

Smith's studies included seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

A 1985 graduate of Picayune Memorial High School, he joined the Navy in April 1985.

New steel firm to locate in Pass

Harrison County Board of Supervisors have ratified a lease allowing a structural steel company to locate in Pass Christian industrial park.

Gulf Steel Fabrication Corp. of Decatur, Tenn. will be in full operation by April 15, according to an announcement by C. J. Fitzsimmons, executive vice president of T&M Structures, Gulf Steel's parent company.

Fitzsimmons said the company will employ 30 to 35 workers at first, and build to 100 by the end of 1986.

He said the company may start accepting applications by Feb. 28.

Initial investment will range from $400,000 to $500,000.

Fitzsimmons said the company also intends to use Harrison County's foreign trade zone designation which will allow Gulf Steel to import steel, build its structures and export it without paying an import duty.

The new industry will also use the State Port at Gulfport.

Three charged in shooting death

Two Gulfport men and a Pass Christian woman were charged with murder Monday morning in the Sunday night shooting death of Leonard Allen Stapleton, 36, of 1907 45th Ave., Gulfport.

Police said they responded to a call of a shooting at 10:26 p.m. Sunday and found Stapleton with a gunshot wound in his head.

He was taken to Memorial Hospital at Gulfport by Mobile Medic and pronounced dead at 11:43 p.m.

Jo Ann Scarbrough, 27, No. 5 Fox

Ave., Pass Christian, was arrested about 1 a.m. Monday at her home.

Daniel George Wion, 22, 1103 Lewis Ave., was arrested at 8 a.m. at a Majik Mart at Camp Avenue and Railroad Street.

His brother, Timothy Lee Wion, 20, same address, was arrested 10 minutes later at his home.

Police said the shooting was the result of an altercation.

Scarborough was jailed under $10,000 bond, and bond for both Wions was set $50,000 each, all pending preliminary hearings.

Energy help limited to MPC, Entex users

BY DENA BISNETTE

An energy assistance program being administered in Hancock County by the American Red Cross is limited to customers of Mississippi Power Company and Entex natural gas supplier.

According to Diane Stephens, Red Cross director of safety services in Gulfport, the two utility firms have provided the funding for the program.

Applicants found to be eligible can be assisted only one time with utility bills.

"Because we can only help one time, it is better for an applicant to wait until he has a higher bill and really needs the help than to come in with a small bill of $20 or so," Stephens said.

Applications are being taken at the Hancock County Civil Defense Office from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays.

Mississippi Power customers must be 65 or older or disabled in order to be considered eligible and should bring in a bill with delinquent charges as well as current charges.

Eligible Entex customers must be 60 or older or disabled and can be assisted only for one month's utility costs.

The programs do not apply to customers of Coast Electric Power sanitation section of the Hancock County Health Department and the Bureau of Land and Water Resources, according to Biggert.

Association or city-owned utilities.

"When contacted by a company offering to drill a well, a person should inquire if the company has a license and ask for the license number," he said.

These license numbers can be verified through the health department or the bureau.

The current list of licensed water well drillers includes more than 70 drillers from Mississippi.

Also licensed in the state are approximately 50 water well drillers from neighboring states including Alabama, Florida, Kansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Tennessee.

Biggert also recommends that before making arrangements to have a well drilled, landowners should request a written contract.

"The contract should include the provision that when completed the well will comply with board of health standards," he added.

Shocked, stunned, unbelievable, and the words can go on and on about the Kennedy Space Center's tragic launch on Tuesday.

The death of the seven pioneers in space was viewed by millions of people throughout the world. In Hancock County we have many residents who have been directly involved with the testing and construction of components of the Challenger.

Many of us have heard the many tests of the engines of the Challenger at The National Space Technology Laboratories located in our county.

Even a teacher at Hancock North Central had filed an application to have been a passenger on the first flight for a teacher.

Many of our residents are employed at Martin Marietta where the external fuel tanks are constructed.

To the many school children viewing the launch, it will be a memory they will never forget, especially those who were students of the teacher who lost her life in the tragedy.

It was a very sad day for the United States.

The Bay St. Louis Rotary Club had the honor of having U.S. Federal District Judge Dan Russell Jr. as their guest speaker last week.

Judge Russell is an honorary member of the Bay Rotary Club and was the club's president in 1946. He practiced law in Hancock County from 1939 until 1965, when the late President Lyndon Johnson appointed him a Federal Judge of the Southern District of Mississippi.

Although he could retire, Judge Russell is still active in the justice department.

Several of the Bay Rotary Club members are still active who were members when Judge Russell was president, so you know he had a lot of good stories to tell us.

HOUSEKEEPING

*A Weekly Summary Of Mississippi House
Of Representatives*

JACKSON—The decision on whether to restrict Sunday sales of various goods would be left to local authorities under a bill that recently received final legislative approval in the Mississippi House of Representatives.

The widely discussed legislation was ready to send to the governor by the close of the third week of the 1986 session as lawmakers continued to work at a steady pace. An almost identical bill was passed in 1985 by the House but later died in a House-Senate conference committee.

The bill, if signed into law by the governor, would repeal Mississippi's old Sunday blue laws as of July 1, 1986. However, the bill specifies that governing boards of cities and counties would have the authority, in their discretion, to restrict Sunday sales of goods and services.

Backers said the issue should be handled on the local level, arguing that statewide blue laws as written were impractical, widely ignored, and difficult if not impossible to enforce. Others maintained statewide blue laws should be retained, at least in some form, not only for religious reasons but to try to help protect working people and small businesses which may not want to open on Sunday.

The measure, passed earlier by the Senate, had been recommended by two House committees, Municipalities and County Affairs. The bill was approved by a vote of 98-24 in the House following unsuccessful attempts to amend certain provisions in the bill.

The state's tight money situation continued to cause a lot of concern in the past week. The Joint Legislative Budget Committee voted to propose additional cuts totaling $15.6 million in its general fund recommendations for the coming fiscal year.

These reductions, affecting more than 40 agencies or programs, would be on top of budget cuts proposed earlier as part of efforts to make sure state spending does not exceed projected income.

In addition, House members approved a bill calling for an immediate freeze on hiring and promotion of state employees. The freeze, if signed by the governor, would stay in effect until June 30, when the current fiscal year ends. Exemptions would be allowed on an individual-case basis in emergency situations.

Eyes on Mississippi

'Mavericks' Taylor, Hale move to redefine lieutenant governor post

JACKSON—It has been inevitable ever since the State Supreme Court handed down its historic decision over two years ago removing legislators from executive branch boards that a legal move would be made to strip Lieutenant Governor Brad Dye of powers in the legislative branch.

That's what happened last week when two maverick young state senators—Stephen Hale of Moss Point and Gene Taylor of Bay St. Louis—filed suit in Hinds County Circuit Court attacking the long-standing legislative powers given the lieutenant governor by Senate rules.

Immediately, Hale and Taylor said it was not a personal assault on Dye, but an effort to end the unconstitutional delegation of legislative powers to the office. Both, however, have been identified with the anti-Dye faction in the Senate.

Realistically, however, the two young senators can expect to see some political backlash if not directly from Dye, then from the pro-Dye forces in the already split Mississippi Senate.

Even beyond the Senate, political friends of Dye, including some of the biggest lobbyists around the State Capitol, may seek to make life as unpleasant as possible for Hale and Taylor for trying to upset the legislative apple cart.

There's no doubt that if the two senators are successful in removing the power of the lieutenant governor to appoint all Senate committees name the chairmen and vice chairmen, serve on the Rules Committee and handle all of the patronage around the Senate, it will bring about a major shift in power on Capitol Hill.

For many years, the No. 2 state job has been neither fish nor fowl...neither totally in the executive branch, nor totally in the legislative branch. But because the lieutenant governor was permitted to serve an indefinite number of consecutive 4-year terms, unlike the governor, it has been potentially one of the most powerful spots in state government.

Dye, for instance, is in his second successive term, and is believed planning to seek a third straight term. Under the existing system in Mississippi, because of the lieutenant governor's power to control Senate committee appointments, he can have, and does have, his own political agenda totally independent of the governor's.

But the days of the lieutenant governor's authority to wield power in the Legislature appeared doomed when the Supreme Court, in the separation of powers case brought by then Attorney General and now Governor Bill Allain removed 36 legislators from state boards in 1984.

The court pointed out in passing that the lieutenant governor under the 1890 constitution is a member of the executive branch.

The constitutional provision which establishes the office of lieutenant governor says only that he shall preside over the Senate, and may vote in cases of ties, and may speak on the floor only when the Senate is in "committee of the whole."

What Hale and Taylor contend in their suit, which was drafted by Paul Neville, attorney for Common Cause in Mississippi, is that Dye can exercise no functions other than those given to him by the constitution; nor can the Senate rules constitutionally confer legislative powers on him.

They are seeking a declaratory judgment of the court under the new rules of civil procedure adopted by the Supreme Court, a move that very likely will bring the issue to a decision before the 1987 elections.

The two young senators and Neville are aware that an almost identical case was decided by the courts in Missouri in 1974, upholding the same contentions they are making.

Assuming that the next lieutenant governor will have no control over committee Senate assignments and internal affairs of the Senate, it could very well make him the "governor's lieutenant" as he is in most other states, and force the No. 2 state officer to be politically allied with the governor.

Some have speculated for years that the governor in Mississippi could be made a more effective and influential office if he could rely upon his lieutenant governor to help carry his programs in the Senate.

Because of the system which has existed, very few lieutenant governors over the past four decades have been close to the governor or identified with the governor's legislative program. In fact, only Carroll Gartin in the '50s under Governors Hugh White and J.P. Coleman worked as a key team player for the administration.

Dye, perhaps the last of the old Jim Eastland faction to remain in a major public office, has had his own political agenda since taking the No. 2 job in 1980. More than any other lieutenant governor in memory, Dye has been the darling of legislative lobbyists.

Often in the past few years utility and other lobbyists have made use of telephones and desks in the office of the lieutenant governor as though they were part of his staff.

As late as last Friday, the day the Hale-Taylor suit was filed, a Mississippi Power & Light Company lobbyist was seen using the phone at Dye's private office desk.

Value of Eve McDonald's services beyond a pricetag

Many Hancock County senior citizens, including myself, are in a state of shock after reading where Mrs. Eve McDonald's services are being terminated.

Is this the way to pay back someone like Ms. Eve who has put in 14 years as an unselfish servant of the seniors both at the center and in their homes (without pay) when they had no one to shop for them or just a visit to cheer them up?

Hancock County senior citizens have been so blessed because of this lady.

Ms. Eve has gone beyond her job profile, she has given of herself.

How do I know this? I was among the first volunteers when we started with one room, high hopes and a leader who didn't stop and say 'that is not my job,' 'I don't get paid for that.'

Instead she would say, 'Come on, girls, they (seniors) come first, let's see what we can do for them.'

She would provide comfort, entertainment, and sometimes just a hug. In short time we went from one room to what we have now.

Think about your dollar and how much it gives.

Now I have a solution. Let's start our cut-back in the higher offices which make this program top-heavy with budgets in the hundreds of thousands and staffs which do not have the grass roots program at heart.

In fact, I doubt they could be with our seniors one day and keep them happy in their wheel chairs, walkers, etc.

So let's start at the top. I can see where enough money from that budget would keep not only our center but many others across the coast in operation, and that is what business as usual is all about.

I sincerely ask we all unite behind this and for a change get something for our tax dollar.

What Ms. Eve gives can not have a price put on it.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Pat Schott

Phillips clarifies vote on Education Bill

January 21, 1986

Editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis, MS 39520

Dear Sir,

I noticed that on Thursday, Jan. 16, you listed the voting of the Representatives on HB 271, which was the Bill allocating money to carry out the provisions of the Education Reform Act, and you listed me as voting Yea on the House Bill and Nay on final passage after Senate revision.

The vote which I voted Nay on was not against the Bill, but I was voting

Nay to approve the Senate amendments, as I wished to invite conference for the purpose of clarification.

In the original House Bill, there was a separate line item for implementing the provisions of merit pay increase as provided for by the teachers' salary increase made in 1985.

The Education Department was allocated a specific sum for the purpose of determining a method to put merit pay increases into effect.

However, the Senate version took this particular provision out of the Bill and transferred the money allocated for this purpose to another purpose.

I felt that this almost One-Half Million Dollars could be utilized in some other programs which were being cut, rather than being placed in a fund, the purposes for which had already been provided.

In essence, I was voting 'no' to a Senate amendment which I thought could be eliminated, or at least some of those funds not needed for the merit pay study could be transferred to other needy areas such as the needs of higher education.

Sincerely,
Walter J. Phillips

New constitution could bring efficient, progressive government

Dear Editor:

Thank the good Lord that after almost a century of stick-in-the-mud government based on a constitution born of the bitterness of the Civil War and Reconstruction we are now seriously considering another constitution.

In this effort, may He deliver us from piece work and patch work so that in its entirety we may have a new constitution.

You can repair an old, ready-for-the-junk-yard automobile and the seat of the pair of old pants just so many times.

God give us patriotic, unselfish statesmen and citizens instead of the self-seeking, self-serving kind so that now, after so long, we can be assured of that which our beloved state so sorely needs - i.e. the blessing of efficient and progressive government.

Students seeking support for Gulf Coast campuses

Jan. 22, 1986

Dear Editor,

I am deeply concerned about the recent resolution of the Board of Trustees of State Institutions of Higher Learning concerning the closing of the USM-Gulf Coast regional campus with centers located at Gulf Park, Keesler Air Force Base and Jackson County.

This proposed action would leave the residents of the second most populous area in the state without the ability to earn a college degree from a state institution within reasonable distance of home.

The regional campus programs especially serve Missisippians committed to families and jobs on the Coast.

I would like to strongly urge your support in retaining this important asset to the development of the people and economy of the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

In the past the Legislature has been most supportive in making available regional degree-granting higher education. I hope this will continue.

Please write your state senator and representative in support of our schools.

Sincerely,
Eutaska Tew

Legislative Report

Through Jan. 23
From Mississippi Reporting Service

Blue laws are gone, but Bill Allain may be back.

The Senate followed the House's lead Tuesday, Jan. 21, by approving a constitutional amendment that will allow Allain to be the first Mississippi governor to succeed himself. If the amendment is approved by the voters Nov. 4, Allain will be the state's first governor allowed to run for re-election.

Blue laws were swept away on the same tide of change the next day. Though the House approved a Senate-passed measure that eliminates the state's controversial laws that restricted Sunday sales, the bill does allow cities and counties to adopt their own blue laws.

Lawmakers, who already this session had shown themselves ready to make big changes, overcame their traditional aversion to the idea of gubernatorial succession last week.

Legislative leaders had argued for years that a two-term governor would become too powerful and unfairly dominate state government.

Rep. Charlie Capps of Cleveland, chairman of the Constitution Committee, had kept succession bottled up in his committee for years, but this year had a change of heart. Capps said Mississippi's lack of economic progress caused him to decide it was time to try something new.

When it came to a vote Tuesday, only Sen. Henry Kirksey of Jackson voted against succession. Allain has not said whether he will run for re-election in 1987 if the amendment passes.

The House passed an identical bill abolishing blue laws last year, but the Senate would not agree to a wholesale abandonment of the laws that prohibited the sale of all but 82 items. When the differences could not be worked in a joint conference committee, the blue law bill died in 1985.

Only a day after approving gubernatorial succession, the Senate passed an amendment that would allow the state treasurer to succeed himself as well. The treasurer is the only state elected officer other than the governor who can not run for re-election.

Treasurer Bill Cole, who has served three years of an appointed term and is in the third year of his first elected term, says he supports the measure. Cole hasn't said he will run for re-election, however.

In other action, the Senate approved a white collar crime unit. If approved by the House, the bill would create a special division of the attorney general's office to investigate crimes by public or elected officials and crimes involving state property.

The House passed a bill that would require the parents of unwed teenagers who bear children to be financially responsible for their grandchildren.

Amid heavy opposition, the controversial College Board recommendation to close two universities and two professional schools moved ahead in committees in both the House and Senate.

Supporters of Mississippi Valley State University in Itta Bena and Mississippi University for Women in Columbus lobbied legislators in an attempt to save their schools.

Advocates of University of Mississippi Dental School in Jackson and the Mississippi State University School of Veterinary Medicine in Starkville also fought hard for their schools. In addition, the bill would also close university branches in Natchez, Vicksburg, Long Beach, Meridian, Jackson and Tupelo.

Selected Voting Records House of Representatives (Jan. 17 through 23)

SB2167

This bill abolished the Sunday closing "blue laws" for the state. It allows local governments to reinstate the laws if they so desire. Yea - 98, Nay - 24; Phillips, Yea.

SB2399

This bill authorized the State Personnel Board to institute an immediate hiring freeze on state jobs. Yea - 121, Nay - 1; The only negative vote was Wells from Lincoln County. SB2166

This bill extended sovereign immunity for the state until 1987. Yea - 110, Nay - 9, Absent - 3; Phillips, Yea.

HB322

This bill adds the grounds of irreconcilable differences to the other grounds for which divorces may be granted in this state. Yea - 83, Nay - 35, Absent - 4; Phillips, Yea.

HB398

This bill allows the Board of Corrections to approve proposals for the location of prison facilities unless the electorate of the city or county successfully petitions for a referendum and disapproves the proposed site in an election. Yea - 90, Nay - 29, Absent - 3; Phillips, Yea.

HB508

This bill makes the parents of a dependent child (both male and female) under the age of eighteen responsible for the support for any illegitimate children of their dependent child. Yea - 98, Nay - 24; Phillips, Yea.

Selected Voting Records For the Senate (Jan. 17 through 23)

SCR513

This resolution would allow the State Treasurer to succeed himself in office. Only one senator voted against it, Stringer from District 40 (Lamar, Marion, Pike, and Walthall counties).

HCR5

This resolution would allow the governor to succeed himself in office. Only one senator voted against it, Kirksey from District 28 (Hinds County).

 Pairing on the resolution were Minor, Nay and Present, District 2 (Benton, Marshall and Tippah) and Mohamed - Yea and Absent, District 21 (Holmes, Humphreys and Yazoo); Gresham, Nay and Present, District 23 (Issaquena, Warren and Washington) and Lambert - Yea and Absent, District 45 (Forrest and Lamar) SB2078

This bill would create a white collar crime division within the Attorney General's Office. This bill passed unanimously. SB2399

This bill authorized the State Personnel Board to institute an immediate hiring freeze on state jobs. The vote on this bill was 48-1. White voting Nay, District 5 (Itawamba, Tishomingo and Prentiss; Absent were: Disharoon, District 36 (Claiborne, Copiah, Hinds and Jefferson) Smith, District 47 (Hancock, Harrison, Pearl River and Stone) and Smith, District 48 (Harrison).

 The members who were present and "Paired," voted on the bill the way they are noted as pairing. Following the second call of the vote but before the announcement of the result, members present who do not want to go on record as voting the way they did, they can "pair" with a member of the body who is not present. That way their vote does not show up as a negative in the record, but rather as a pair.

Phillips moves to allow food store wine sales

JACKSON—About two-thirds of a projected $15 million state budget deficit next year could be made up without new taxes by broadening the availability of wine in Mississippi, according to state Rep. Walter Phillips of Bay St. Louis.

Phillips has introduced a bill that would raise an estimated $10.7 million annually through increased wine sales. The bill would allow private industry to wholesale wine and permit wine to be sold in grocery stores and other retail outlets where beer is currently sold.

"This bill is that proverbial 'free lunch' everybody always says doesn't exist," said the state representative.

"It will help the state out of a difficult financial situation, while also benefitting consumers by expanding the selection of wines in our state and by making wine more accessible," Phillips said. "And all without new taxes."

In addition to the direct revenue benefits, economic analyses forecast an additional $1 million in sales and income tax revenue from the anticipated increases in wine sales and the estimated 1,500 jobs that could be created by allowing private wine distribution.

Thirty-five states, including all but two other Southern states, and the District of Columbia currently allow the sale of wine in grocery stores and other retail outlets.

If approved in Mississippi, the measure would have no impact on existing local option laws regulating the sale of alcoholic beverages.

Wine also could continue to be sold in regular liquor package stores, while Phillips' bill would also permit its sale in the approximately 7,000 food stores throughout the state.

Currently, all wines sold in Mississippi are distributed through the state system. Because of limited warehouse space, the choice of wines available in the state has been restricted.

While wine sales in other states have risen sharply in recent years, Mississippi has experienced a decline in wine consumption. Americans on the average consume about 2.35 gallons of wine annually, while in Mississippi, average per capita consumption is only slightly above a half-gallon annually.

Maine and Idaho - two rural states where state government controls the sale of alcoholic beverages - both permitted wine sales in grocery stores beginning in 1971 and saw wine sales increase of 718 percent and 283 percent in the first year alone.

Sales increases would be boosted by both increased availability and accessibility. Studies have indicated women purchase about two-thirds of all wine sold, while about 70 percent of wine purchases are "impulse sales." But the economic analyses show there would be no change in the average cost to the consumer.

Other studies have indicated that wine sales promote the increased awareness of the importance of moderation in beverage consumption.

A recent survey by Newsweek magazine indicated that most wine is consumed with dinner and at home. Another study found lower alcohol arrest rates and lower alcohol-related death rates were found in states having a relatively higher per-capita consumption of wine.

By Ed Blake Farm Bureau Federation CENTURY OLD BANK IN BLACK

Late in the afternoon one day last week this writer sat across the desk from Hugh Potts Jr., great-grandson of the first president of the Merchants & Farmers Bank of Kosciusko, to discuss that venerable old institution's two million dollar profit margin during 1985 when some banks found themselves strapped with problems and some of their futures uncertain.

"I guess you could say we made money by not losing money," Potts said as he tried to put his finger on why the nearly century old institution was more involved in growth than anything else at this point in its history.

The fact that its name rather noticeably points to an alliance between merchants and farmers brought this reporter to its door a few days after a news article pointed to the institution's good profit year last year.

The name doesn't fit as it once did, since today most farmers go to their own specialized credit institutions for most of their long and short range credit needs.

Times have changed rather dramatically, but as you drive through this central Mississippi county seat - approaching the town square - the large lettering high up on the local bank sort of gets your attention.

So does the constant stream of bank customers coming in to queue up at the tellers' windows, as does the 'Mayberry-like' friendliness you see on every hand.

Merchants and Farmers Bank obviously is a successful community bank. And Potts is glad it is.

"We deal mostly with small businessmen who usually are sole proprietorships, and home owners who want us to finance their cars and help them bring about needed improvements. A lot of them live out in the country around Kosciusko and have some cattle and timber," Potts analyzed.

Potts made his statements in a friendly but cautious manner. He said he didn't want to make too much out of what they were doing. But more questions and answers brought out the fact that the Merchants and Farmers Bank has accounted well to and for its stockholders during the past century.

It was organized by a few Kosciusko businessmen in 1890 who had seen fit to pool their resources with some investors in Lafayette county where Oxford is the county seat.

During the Great Depression there were seven banks in Attala county, and Merchants and Farmers was the only one to survive the big crash.

The decades to come were to see the bank expand with branches in a crescent shaped geographical area which stretches across a wide swath of central and north Mississippi - including such towns as Starkville, Ackerman, Durant, Oxford - and more recently - Canton, Ridgeland and Madison. Its smallest branch is at Lena near Carthage.

Its recent moves to Ridgeland and Madison (not open for business yet) make them "the new kid on the block" in the Jackson market, Potts explained as he pointed out that his bank does not consider itself a competitor for Jackson's major commercial banks.

But Potts and many central Mississippians are justly proud of their local bank that "has tried to know its customers" and experienced good things along the way.

During 1985 Merchants and Farmers Bank showed a $2,033,000 net income, $9.31 per share, compared with a total net income in 1984 of $1,248,000.

Total assets as of December 31, 1985 were $208,000,000 - up from $188,000,000 the previous year.

But 1985 was a good year for most banks, Potts said.

Potts said he feels that as a community bank the institution has an obligation to the local citizenry to reflect such basic principles as honesty, integrity and compassion.

"We try to take into account that all humans however are imperfect, and that helps us manage a business like this with appropriate checks and balances. It seems to work out!"

By Katy McGuire Caire

I'm still a-cooking my way happily, as I was last week, through Alec Gifford's delightful book, an adventure in good dining in New Orleans and the surrounding area - the book is named "ALEC GIFFORD TAKES YOU TO 22 NEW ORLEANS RESTAURANTS that the locals would like to keep to themselves."

Quite a title for such a small book - but, it's a treasure for any gourmet or would-be gourmet! Of course, the locals would like to keep these restaurants a secret, so that they won't have to stand in line for dinner - but, a dinner dish for which I'll gladly stand in line for a long time is the special treat at Sal and Judy's on Louisiana Highway 90 in Lacombe. But, I usually don't have to stand in line, for I'm often in the Mandeville-Covington-Lacombe area, since my sons and their families live there - Oh, am I lucky!

If you didn't know what good food there is at Sal and Judy's, you might easily pass it by - for it looks like any other old-fashioned roadside diner. As Alec says, "The food is fancy, but nothing else is, and although the food has Chevy prices, the parking lot is filled with Cadillacs."

My favorite is the Trout Giovi (named for Sal and Judy's 12-year-old son; other trout dishes are named for their other three children. So,

here's:

TROUT GIOVI (For One)

6 oz. of trout per serving
2 green onions, chopped
4 fresh mushrooms
4 oz. peeled, boiled crawfish
1 oz. Dry Sac sherry
4 oz. crabmeat
1 oz. cream
2 tsp. lemon juice
1 oz. butter
1 spring fresh parsley, chopped
Saute the onions and mushrooms. Add the crawfish and sherry, and let the sherry cook down. In a separate saucepan, boil the cream until it thickens, then add the green onion mixture. Add the butter, crabmeat, lemon juice and parsley, and stir, adding pepper and salt to your taste.

In other skillet, heat a bit of cooking oil, and, after you've dusted the fish ever-so-lightly with flour, fry it until brown, then remove to the serving plate and top with the luscious crawfish mixture.

This is only for one hungry diner - so, what I do, is to saute several fillets of trout, mix up all the "good stuff" and pour it over - increasing the proportions, of course - and enjoy!

Coast Guard Auxiliary slates boating course to begin Feb. 24

A safe boating course is scheduled to begin Monday, Feb. 24 at Pass Christian City Library on West Scenic Drive, behind City Hall, conducted by members of U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla 35.

The course will be conducted biweekly through March 17, 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Monday and Thursday nights.

Registration is at 7 p.m. Monday, Feb. 24 at the library.

Course subjects will include boat handling, rules of the road, navigational aids, equipment required by the Coast Guard, marine engines and others pertaining to boat safety and enjoyment.

"Anyone interested in boating safety is welcome," said Harold Eddins, flotilla public education officer.

Call 452-9756 or 467-3319 for additional information.

Although instruction is free, there will be a modest charge for textbook and workbook, Eddins noted.

Topic schedule and instructors include:

Feb. 24 - The Safe Way To Boating Enjoyment, Avery Katz; Boater's Language And Trailoring, Larry Parkinson.

Feb. 27 - Boat Handling, James Williams; Legal Requirements, Dick Stewart.

Mar. 3 - Navigation Rules, Bob Duane; Aids To Navigation, Dick Stewart.

Mar. 6 - Piloting, Hank Rodriguez; Marine Engines, Wes Castanedo.

Mar. 10 - Marlinspike Seamanship, Wes Castanedo; Sailing, Avery Katz.

Mar. 13 - Weather, Hank Rodriguez; Radiotelephone, Ed Wilcox.

Mar. 17 - Review and Testing, All Hands.

For additional information, contact Eddins, 452-9756 or Katz, 467-3319.

SSC Varsity loses heartbreaker to St. Martin 48-44

In a close scoring contest in which the game was tied both at halftime and at the end of the third quarter, the St. Stanislaus Varsity Basketball Team lost a close 48-44 decision to the St. Martin Yellow Jackets Tuesday evening at the Rockachaw gymnasium.

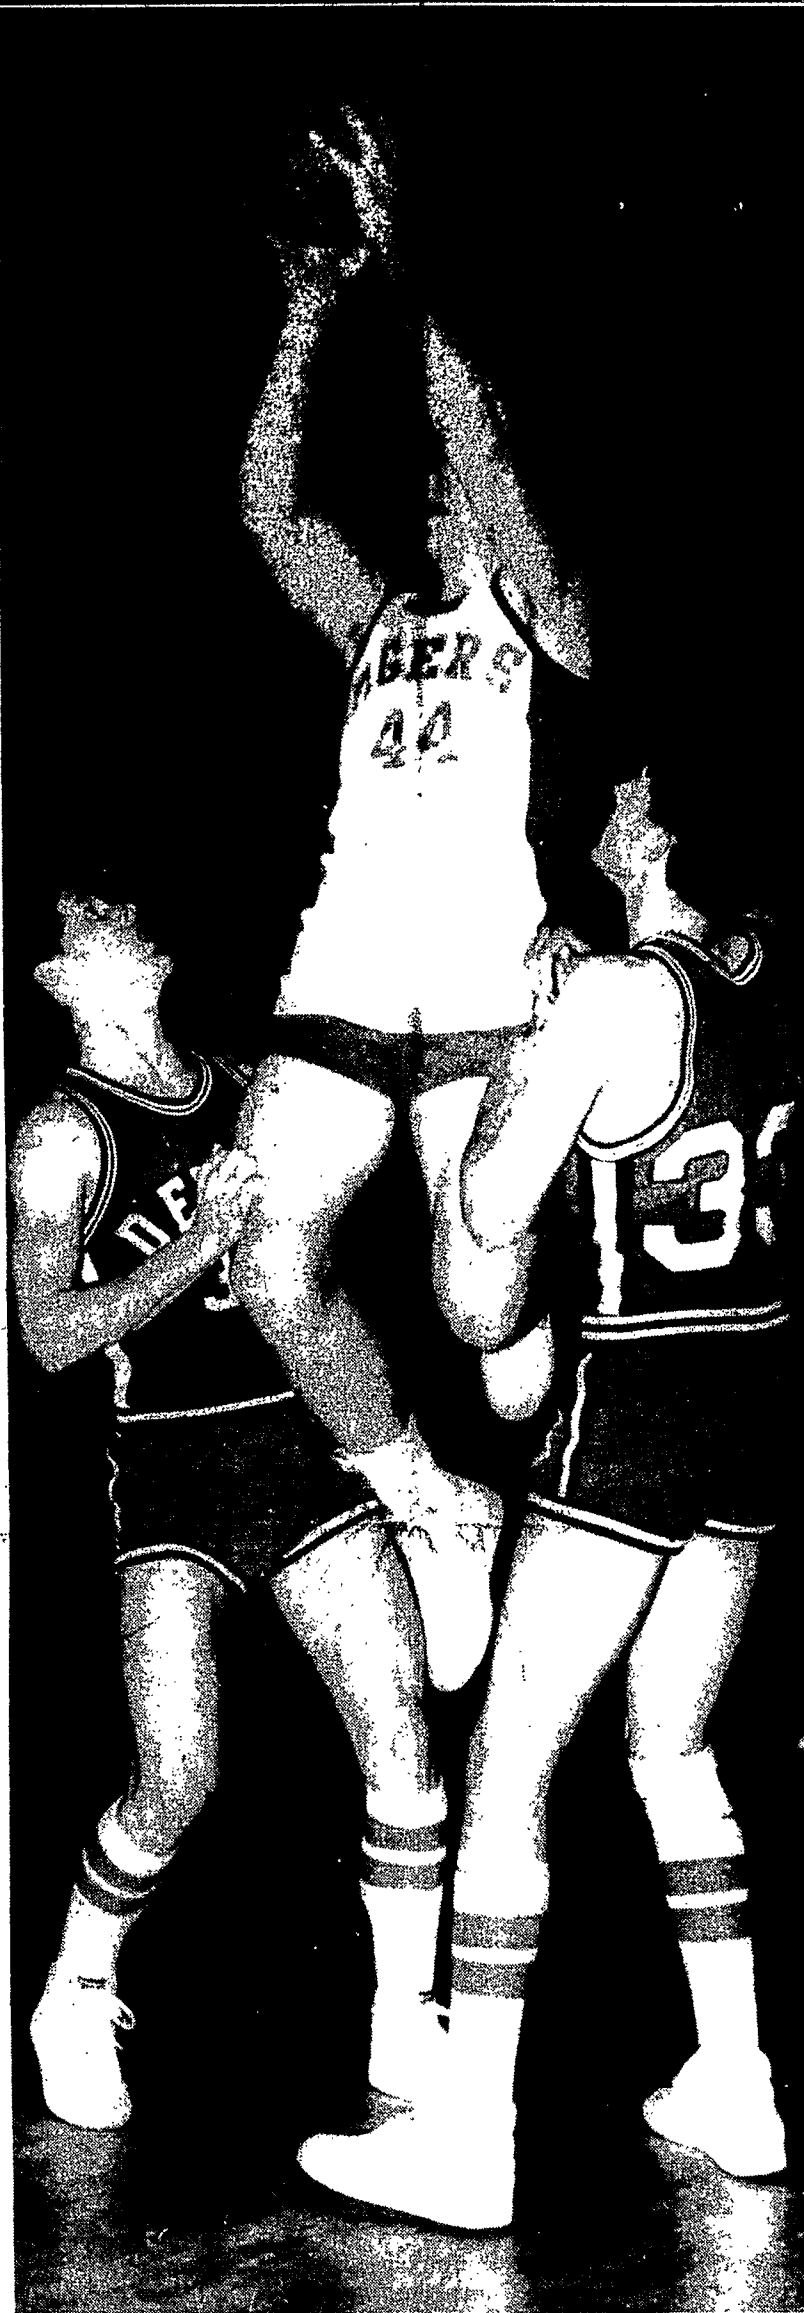

In the preliminary Junior Varsity contest, the Rocks prevailed 33-32 over St. Martin's Junior Varsity.

The Varsity Rockachaws, coached by Brother Anton, dropped to 5-15 for the year. Bright spots for the Rockachaws were the 15-point effort of forward Tom Walton and a 12-point output by Louis Schuff.

In the closing minutes of the varity contest, St. Martin's Tommy Weldy sank a crucial free throw and guard Neely Brown added another for the margin of victory. The Rocks played the last quarter in serious foul trouble, as Josh Bowles and Steve Montagnet both fouled out. Louis Schuff and Tom Walton had four personal fouls each.

Friday night the Rocks host district leader George County for Varsity and Junior Varsity contests. The JV game begins at 6:30 p.m. On Saturday, the Pass Christian Pirates will battle the Rocks at the SSC gym. Tip-off is set for 6:30 p.m. in the JV game.

Pirates eyeing conference title

Pass High moved to within one game of securing their first Conference Championship since 1976 with a 60-58 win over Vancleave in Vancleave Tuesday night.

J. W. Dedeaux broke out of a shooting slump to lead the Pirates with 22 points.

He was followed by Joel Hatcher with 21 points.

"I was sure glad to see J. W. start shooting the ball well again," said Pirate Assistant Coach Joe Brown.

"We knew we were going to have to get some points out of J. W. to win tonight. The win tonight puts us in pretty good shape as far as winning the conference, but we have to win Friday night in order to claim the title."

"I felt like Charlie Baines, Kevin Crockett, Kevin Harrison and Samuel Hall did a good job, tonight, the coach added.

If anyone would have asked Ken Hudson in November what were the chances of his team being in the race for the conference championship at the end of the season he would have told you 'slim to none.'

First of all he was not very pleased with the way early season practice had gone.

"The kids just didn't work as hard as I would have liked to see them work."

Then one week before the opening game against St. John's, Hudson found out that he would be without the services of starter Joel Hatcher for three games due to discipline matters.

Simuel Hall twisted his ankle the same day the Hatcher problem started and had to play at only about 90 percent.

Somehow the Pirates pulled together and won all three games but the problems were only starting.

Hatcher returned only to break his nose two games later and missed another two weeks.

J. W. Dedeaux was troubled with fallen arches and Charles Dubuisson had to have surgery on his knee.

Then two other members of the team were dismissed for discipline reasons, but somehow the Pirates have hung together and put together a fine record.

"It really doesn't matter if we win the conference or not," says Hudson. "This group of kids have a lot of class about them."

With all the problems, the average team would have rolled over and quit a long time ago.

"Sure I would love to win the conference championship, but if we don't it won't upset me," the coach added.

"Being around a group of kids like these is satisfaction enough for me. Things have not been smooth this year but in the long run the kids have proven that they are winners. Winners not only on the court, but I'm willing to bet you they will be winners in life also," Hudson commented.

The Pass starters got a much deserved rest Friday night as the reserves went most of the way in a 71-44 victory over East Central at East Central. The Pirates jumped on top 12-2 early in the game and from that point on Coach Hudson subbed at will.

"I was glad we were able to get a game where we could get our starters off the floor. They have put in a lot of minutes out there and several of them have been sick."

With Vancleave coming up on Tuesday night we can't afford to have people not at full force."

The Pirates who own a 15-4 worksheet have a one game lead in the conference with two games to go.

They visit Vancleave Tuesday, where a win would assure them of a least a share of the conference crown and return home for their final home game on Friday against Pearl River Central.

If the Pirates defeat Vancleave, then a win Friday over Pearl River would give the Pirates their first conference championship since the 1976-1977 season.

Knights of Columbus sponsoring youth free throw contest

The Knights of Columbus, Pere LeDuc Council No. 1522, Bay St. Louis, will sponsor a free throw contest Saturday, Feb. 1, at St. Stanislaus High School old gym on the corner of Beach Boulevard and Union St.

The contest is open to all boys and girls ages 11 through 14. There will be separate boy and girl winners in each of the four age categories.

The contest will begin at 10:30 a.m.

The participants' ages as of January 1, 1988 will determine the age group that they will compete in.

Entry blanks and permission forms may be obtained from principals of schools in this area.

Each shooter must have a parent's signature on the permission form.

Plaques will be presented to the eight winners.

Free throw chairman is Jim Thrifley.

Committee opens drive to rebuild pier

A group of St. Stanislaus High School alumni and supporters have formed a committee to help the Bay St. Louis parochial school raise $75,000 to rebuild its pier.

The pier, a familiar landmark jutting out into the Bay since the 1930's, was damaged beyond repair by a series of storms during the 1985 hurricane season.

The pier has always been an important part of recreational life for students and campers at the school which is operated by the Brothers of the Sacred Heart.

The proposed new structure will be built several feet higher than the old one to avoid damage from tidal action.

Support pilings will be longer and driven deeper to withstand the high winds and battering waves of future storms.

The committee is headed by Stonewall "Stoney" Dale of New Orleans. Members of the committee include Colonel Felix "Doc" Blanchard, a former Heisman Trophy winner at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point who graduated from St. Stanislaus in 1942, and Mississippi business executives Guy Billups, Bob Boudreaux and Ronnie Artigues.

Members of the committee from the New Orleans area include District Judge Ed Dufresne, Ed Brignac, Buck Farr, Dr. Benjamin Harrison, J.T. La Nasa, Jerry Schoen and James Smith; and Gary Blaize of Houma, La.

Brother Pierre St. Pierre serves as an ex-officio member and treasurer of the group.

The first contribution of $2,000 to the fund was made in the memory of John Scaffide, Cotton Blaize and Dr. A. J. Kergosien by Gary Blaize, Janet Blaize Kyle and John Scaffide Jr.

Persons interested in contributing to the fund are asked to send their contributions or pledges of future donations to the St. Stanislaus Pier Fund, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

Contributors will be listed on a commemorative plaque in the school lobby.

The committee hopes to raise the funds in time to have the new pier completed by this Spring.

Joseph, Bonney lead Lady Pirates in victory

The Lady Pirates improved their record to 9-5 with a 39 to 31 win over Vancleave Tuesday night in Vancleave.

The team jumped out to a 10-2 first quarter lead using man-to-man full court defensive pressure.

Hope Bonney had three steals, and Kim Joseph scored eight of her game-high 17 points in the quarter.

The Pirates increased their lead to 20-6 at halftime with balanced scoring in the second quarter. However, Vancleave came storming back using a full count zone press of their own to narrow the margin to 23-22 at the end of the third quarter.

The teams battled back and forth in the fourth quarter before the Lady Pirates took control in the last three minutes with their four-corner offense.

Poor foul shooting by the Pirates made the outcome closer than it should have been.

The team was 5-19 at the free throw line. Friday night the team concludes its conference schedule at home against Pearl River.

On Friday, Jan. 24, the Pass Christian Lady Pirates defeated the East Central Lady Hornets 47-38 at East Central.

Pass High opened up a 12-9 first quarter lead behind the inside scoring of Kim Joseph and the outside play of Hope Bonney. At halftime the Lady Pirates led 21-17.

But East Central outplayed the team in the third quarter behind the shooting of Misty Blalock and Kristal Kennedy to narrow the margin to 33-30.

Actually, East Central took the lead briefly before the Lady Pirates started playing aggressive defense. Hope Bonney had three steals with Angie Dubuisson adding two as the Pirates won the fourth quarter and the game, 47-38.

Bonney led the team in steals with five and Ouida Buchanan added three.

Buchanan also led the team in rebounding by collecting nine.

Kim Joseph led all scorers with 16 points and Hope Bonney chipped in with 12.

Angel Moran led the team with four assists. The team's record improved to 8-5 and 6-3 in district play.

Rock Eighth Graders up record to 12-1

The St. Stanislaus Eighth Grade basketball team, under the guidance of Coach Chuck Genin, turned back HNC last Friday 57-18 and East Central last Monday 46-11 to continue their winning ways and bring their won-loss record to 12-1.

The Ninth Grade Rocks coached by Jerry Spell also posted wins over the HNC and East Central Ninth Grade teams to up their record to 4-9.

"We have been playing team basketball the entire season," commented Genin. "This has been a major factor in our wins. Our point guard, Greg Schuff, has had an excellent year. He is our heart and soul—the one who makes us go. He has quick hands, plays good defense, throws good passes, and is a real thinker on the court."

"Our rebounding effort this year has been outstanding. Sean Sewell, Shannon Garrett, and Chris Perrone have done their jobs, giving us three and four shots at the basket. If our young players continue to develop, SSC will be tough on the court for the next several years."

In the Eighth grade win over HNC, Sean Sewell had 15 points, followed by Shannon Garrett with 10 points. And in the win over East Central last Monday, nine players scored points, led by Sewell with 11 points and Cedric Smith with 8 points.

For the SSC Ninth Grade, Freddie Worstrom and Eighth Grade Shannon Garrett led the scorers with 9 points each, followed by Bert Dean with 8 points.

For HNC, Sherwin Ladner led all scorers with 15 points. And in the 9th grade game against East Central, 8th graders Greg Schuff had 15 points and Sean Sewell had 12 points, followed by Bert Dean with 10 points. No one from East Central scored more than six points.

SSC's Eighth and Ninth Grade teams close out their season Thursday when they travel to Pass Christian to play Pass Junior High. Tip-off in the Eighth Grade game is set for 5 p.m.

Checkoff will help save Mississippi's "Special" places

JACKSON—Mississippi has its share of special natural places—sparkling waterfalls, magnificent stands of old timber, remnants of ancient prairies. And now, more of these places may be saved through an innovative state program.

The new Mississippi income tax "checkoff" found on Line 28 of this year's state income tax forms will provide funds to help find and protect unique natural areas.

Approximately 100 such sites have been identified and are now eligible for the Mississippi Natural Areas Registry. Once registered, these significant properties are officially listed as Mississippi Natural Areas and management advice is available to the landowners.

But, locating the areas, contacting the landowners and providing assistance takes money and manpower, according to Nellwyn Gilmore, director of the Mississippi Natural Areas Registry. "We hope that monies generated by the checkoff will help administer the Registry program and maybe save the best of what's left."

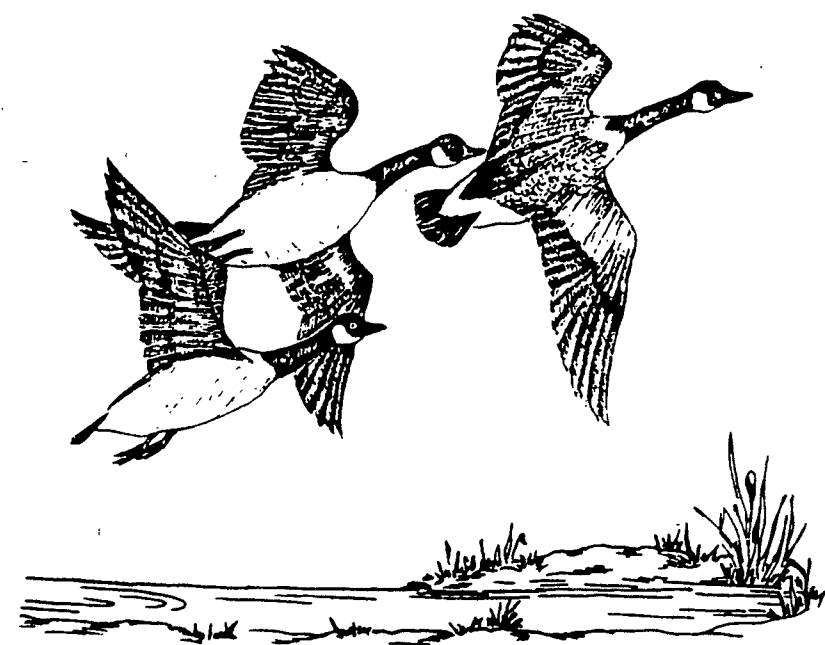

"Many of these unique natural areas exist only because landowners appreciate the values and beauty of these special places," explained Gilmore.

"When we contact these landowners about the Registry, most are delighted to know that there is something special on their land and are anxious to protect it."

Landowners participating in the program agree to protect the area to the best of their ability, to report any threats to the site, and to give the Department of Wildlife Conservation or The Nature Conservancy first option to purchase the property should they decide to sell or transfer ownership. The Department and the Conservancy are cooperating in the Registry program.

The state may eventually be able to purchase registered areas as they become available with funds from the New Mississippi Wildlife Heritage "checkoff". The checkoff appears for the first time this year on Mississippi state income tax forms, allowing taxpayers to voluntarily contribute all or part (at least $1) of their refund to help protect rare and endangered plants and animals, nongame wildlife, and fragile natural areas.

For more information, contact the Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation, P.O. Box 451, Jackson, MS 39205, or call 601/961-5300.

Spring football practice underway at the River

Pearl River College began spring football practice with 68 players.

According to Mike Nelson, the Wildcats' head coach, 26 of the players are returning from the '85 squad, 25 transferred in from other schools and the rest are walk-ons.

Nelson said the 'Cats will practice each week through Thursday until March 6. High school players are scheduled for tryouts each Friday.

High school seniors will not be signed to scholarships until Feb. 12.

At this time Nelson and his staff of Herbert Morris and Bill Martin are expecting to sign 20 district players and 10 out-of-state players to scholarships.

"I know we are bigger, faster and stronger than last year," Nelson said. "When I took over last year at this time we had one to bench over forty. We have 10 or more to accomplish each of those feats now."

300 pounds and only one to run a 4.6

The PRC coach also said he plans to have a couple of scrimmage games this spring with another junior college.

"Individual competition is going to be tough," Nelson said. "Because we can only have 55 players on the squad this fall."

USM's '85 grid lettermen listed

Fifty-nine University of Southern Mississippi football players received letters for the 1985 season, according to acting athletic director Dr. Sidney Weatherford and head coach Jim Carmody.

There were 20 seniors in the group, including nine who earned their fourth letters.

Quarterback Robert Duckworth, guard Chris Haag and Robert Ray Stallings, from the offense, and tackles Fred Baskin and Kip Smith, end Greg Dampeer, linebacker Chai Pace and backs James Cooper and Bobo Harris, from the defense, are the Golden Eagles who will receive their fourth letters.

The other lettermen are:

Red drum research funded

Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs will receive $100,587 during 1986 to complete a three-year research project on red drum, a highly prized sport and commercial species in Gulf waters.

The Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium will provide $47,056 for the research effort, in addition to $29,262 in GCRL in-kind support and $24,269 in state matching funds.

GCRL ichthyologist Dr. Joanne L. Shultz and planktonologist Dr. John P. Steen will devote the final year of the project to analysis of over 600 red drum larvae samples collected during 11 research cruises conducted at various locations south of Mississippi's barrier islands over the past two years.

Varied investigative procedures provide accurate estimates about where red drum spawn, what factors affect their condition and how the young fish survive starvation and predation.

This research is expected to improve the data base for resource assessment and environmental evaluation which fishery managers can use to develop more effective management practices which will ensure continuing yields from red drum stocks in the Gulf of Mexico.

GCRL to complete 2-year oyster study

Microbiologists at Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs will receive $28,466 during 1986 to complete a two-year research program which is examining the effects of storage temperatures and handling procedures on bacteria levels in unshucked oysters.

This year's funding includes $13,414 from the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium, $8,518 in GCRL in-kind support and $6,534 in state matching funds.

The study is being conducted by Dr. David W. Cook, GCRL microbiology section head, and Angela Dicharry, seafood food technologist.

Dr. Cook and Ms. Dicharry recently completed the first phase of their research which involved background work and testing to determine bacterial variations accompanying temperature changes over a period of time.

Building on data from the controlled temperature experiments, the final phase of the project will examine the effects of unshucked oyster storage practices on processed oysters.

In the past, Mississippi's oyster industry has suffered severe economic losses when oysters from approved waters arrived on the wholesale market on the East Coast with elevated fecal coliform levels.

Wholesalers assumed that the oysters were from polluted waters and destroyed them.

"Our research may show that harvesting from approved areas and sanitary handling could still result in oysters that exceed the fecal coliform standard. In that case, fecal coliform levels would have no relation to sanitation," Dr. Cook noted. "One reason we are running so many different tests is that the fecal coliform levels may be a signal for problems other than polluted water or unsanitary handling. Such a multiplication of natural occurring pathogens, loss of quality or something else. That's what we want to find out."

Rebels will play 55-game baseball schedule

Ole Miss Athletic Director Warner Alford has released the upcoming 1986 Rebel baseball schedule which consists of 55 games, including a rugged 27-game Southeastern Conference slate.

Included in the 55-game slate is a three-game series with each Southeastern Conference opponent and tough non-conference opposition with the likes of Kansas State, Missouri, Tulane, Memphis State, and UAB. Other non-conference opponents will be Delta State, North Alabama, Christian Brothers College, Union, Morehead State, Mississippi College, Arkansas State, Louisiana Tech and Rhodes College.

"We feel our schedule through the entire week is one which will be very competitive," Ole Miss head coach Jake Gibbs says. "We are going to have to be ready to play good, solid baseball every time we take the field."

The new Southeastern Conference set-up will no longer have the East and West Divisions, a format which was adapted in 1959. This year, the top four finishers in league play will advance to the SEC Championship Tournament at the home of the regular season champion.

"No doubt, the new set-up will create great interest everywhere in the conference," Gibbs says.

Ole Miss opens its season on Saturday, Feb. 22 at home against Christian Brothers College for a non-conference double-header. The first SEC action for the Rebels will be on March 1-2 as Ole Miss travels to Auburn for a three-game series.

Joseph, Bonney lead Lady Pirates in victory

The Lady Pirates improved their record to 9-5 with a 39 to 31 win over Vancleave Tuesday night in Vancleave.

The team jumped out to a 10-2 first quarter lead using man-to-man full court defensive pressure.

Hope Bonney had three steals, and Kim Joseph scored eight of her game-high 17 points in the quarter.

The Pirates increased their lead to 20-6 at halftime with balanced scoring in the second quarter. However, Vancleave came storming back using a full count zone press of their own to narrow the margin to 28-22 at the end of the third quarter.

The teams battled back and forth in the fourth quarter before the Lady Pirates took control in the last three minutes with their four-corner offense.

Poor foul shooting by the Pirates made the outcome closer than it should have been.

The team was 5-19 at the free throw line. Friday night the team concludes its conference schedule at home against Pearl River.

On Friday, Jan. 24, the Pass Christian Lady Pirates defeated the East Central Lady Hornets 47-38 at East Central.

Pass High opened up a 12-9 first quarter lead behind the inside scoring of Kim Joseph and the outside play of Hope Bonney. At halftime the Lady Pirates led 21-17.

But East Central outplayed the team in the third quarter behind the shooting of Misty Blalock and Kristal Kennedy to narrow the margin to 33-30.

Actually, East Central took the lead briefly before the Lady Pirates started playing aggressive defense.

Hope Bonney had three steals with Angie Dubuisson adding two as the Pirates won the fourth quarter and the game, 47-38.

Bonney led the team in steals with five and Ouida Buchanan added three.

Buchanan also led the team in rebounding by collecting nine.

Kim Joseph led all scorers with 16 points and Hope Bonney chipped in with 12.

Angel Moran led the team with four assists. The team's record improved to 8-5 and 6-3 in district play.

Rock Eighth Graders up record to 12-1

The St. Stanislaus Eighth Grade basketball team, under the guidance of Coach Chuck Genin, turned back HNC last Friday 57-18 and East Central last Monday 46-11 to continue their winning ways and bring their won-loss record to 12-1.

The Ninth Grade Rocks coached by Jerry Spell also posted wins over the HNC and East Central Ninth Grade teams to up their record to 4-9.

"We have been playing team basketball the entire season," commented Genin. "This has been a major factor in our wins. Our point guard, Greg Schuff, has had an excellent year. He is our heart and soul—the one who makes us go. He has quick hands, plays good defense, throws good passes, and is a real thinker on the court."

"Our rebounding effort this year has been outstanding. Sean Sewell, Shannon Garrett, and Chris Perrone have done their jobs, giving us three and four shots at the basket. If our young players continue to develop, SSC will be tough on the court for the next several years."

In the Eighth grade win over HNC, Sean Sewell had 15 points, followed by Shannon Garrett with 10 points. And in the win over East Central last Monday, nine players scored points, led by Sewell with 11 points and Cedric Smith with 8 points.

For the SSC Ninth Grade, Freddie Worstrom and Eighth Grade Shannon Garrett led the scorers with 9 points each, followed by Bert Dean with 8 points.

For HNC, Sherwin Ladner led all scorers with 15 points. And in the 9th grade game against East Central, 8th graders Greg Schuff had 15 points and Sean Sewell had 12 points, followed by Bert Dean with 10 points. No one from East Central scored more than six points.

SSC's Eighth and Ninth Grade teams close out their season Thursday when they travel to Pass Christian to play Pass Junior High. Tip-off in the Eighth Grade game is set for 5 p.m.

Checkoff will help save Mississippi's "Special" places

JACKSON—Mississippi has its share of special natural places—sparkling waterfalls, magnificent stands of old timber, remnants of ancient prairies. And now, more of these places may be

GCRL to complete 2-year oyster study

Microbiologists at Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs will receive $28,466 during 1986 to complete a two-year research program which is examining the effects of storage temperatures and handling procedures on bacteria levels in unshucked oysters.

This year's funding includes $13,414 from the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium, $8,518 in GCRL in-kind support and $6,534 in state matching funds.

The study is being conducted by Dr. David W. Cook, GCRL microbiology section head, and Angela Dicharry, seafood food technologist.

Dr. Cook and Ms. Dicharry recently completed the first phase of their research which involved background work and testing to determine bacterial variations accompanying temperature changes over a period of time.

Rebels will play 55-game baseball schedule

Ole Miss Athletic Director Warner Alford has released the upcoming 1986 Rebel baseball schedule which consists of 55 games, including a rugged 27-game Southeastern Conference slate.

Included in the 55-game slate is a three-game series with each Southeastern Conference opponent and tough non-conference opposition with the likes of Kansas State, Missouri, Tulane, Memphis State, and UAB. Other non-conference opponents will be Delta State, North Alabama, Christian Brothers College, Union, Morehead State, Mississippi College, Arkansas State, Louisiana Tech and Rhodes College.

"We feel our schedule through the entire week is one which will be very

The new Southeastern Conference set-up will no longer have the East and West Divisions, a format which was adapted in 1969. This year, the top four finishers in league play will advance to the SEC Championship Tournament at the home of the regular season champion.

"No doubt, the new set-up will create great interest everywhere in the conference," Gibbs says.

Ole Miss opens its season on Saturday, Feb. 22 at home against Christian Brothers College for a non-conference double-header. The first

Burning Charcoal in Homes, Vehicles, and Tents Causes 83 Deaths from Carbon Monoxide in 7 Years

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, in cooperation with the Barbecue Industry Association, warns consumers about the danger of misusing charcoal briquets. During the past seven years, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission has learned of 83 deaths from carbon monoxide poisoning occurring as a result of people burning charcoal briquets in an enclosed area.

Some of the victims were campers who burned the charcoal to keep warm inside a tent or camper. Others were hunters who burned the charcoal inside their trucks, cars, or vans. In January of this year, a family attending the Rose Parade in Pasadena, California, died when they brought an outdoor grill with a charcoal fire into their van apparently to keep themselves warm. In several home-related incidents, victims died from carbon monoxide poisoning after they burned charcoal in a bedroom or living room for heat or cooking.

Current Commission regulations require two highly visible warning labels at the top of every bag of charcoal briquets. The warning labels identify the hazard of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Carbon monoxide (CO) is a tasteless, odorless, invisible gas. Some symptoms of acute CO poisoning are headache, confusion, dizziness, nausea and, at high enough concentrations, loss of consciousness. Consumers may not realize that burning charcoal produces large amounts of carbon monoxide and that it only takes a small amount of CO in the air to produce symptoms of CO poisoning and even death. Opening a window or using a fan will not assure that CO gas will be reduced to safe levels.

Burning the charcoal in a fireplace can also be hazardous because it is questionable whether a charcoal fire will create a chimney draft sufficient to assure that CO will be exhausted to the outside. Because CO is not visible, and is odorless, consumers may not be aware that carbon monoxide is accumulating.

The Commission and the Barbecue Industry Association urge that consumers not use charcoal to cook or to provide heat inside a tent, camper, van, car, truck, home, mobile home, or other enclosed area.

To report any potential product-related hazards, consumers should call the CPSC Hotline at 800-638-CPSC. The teletypewriter number for the hearing-impaired is 800-638-8270.

Recruiting magazine published

'Lindy's SEC Recruiting Guide' went on sale to general public Jan. 15 at retail magazine outlets throughout the southeast.

DMD Publications, also the publisher of 'Lindy's SEC Football Annual,' has published the first of its kind—a look at the top prep players in the southeast.

The magazine includes an in-depth look at the top players from the seven Southeast Conference states and also includes three all-south teams.

There is information on the size, speed, strength and even the college preference of the top players; a total of over 500 top prep prospects are included in the 'Recruiting Guide.'

The magazine retails for $1.95 and is on sale at stores selling magazines from Jan. 15 through mid-February.

The innovative publication marks the first time timely information of this kind has been made available to the general public.

Previously, it was only obtainable through expensive subscription services.

Softshell research funded

Research being conducted at Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs which may open the door for the expansion of the local softshell blue crab industry has received $19,628 in funding for 1986.

The Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium will provide $12,176 of the funding, with $5,873 in state matching funds and $1,579 in GCRIL in-kind support.

GCRIL biologist Harriet Perry and University of South Alabama endocrinologist Dr. John A. Freeman are in the second year of a three-year research effort which is exploring the use of hormones to accelerate the blue crab's molt cycle.

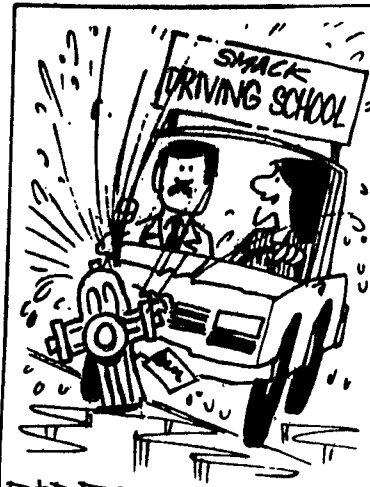

During the first year of the project, internal and external changes observed during the molt cycle provided the foundation for development of a method to be used by crabbers to determine how far a crab is from the pre-molt stage.

Current research is directed at finding workable doses of the blue crab's natural hormones to move crabs into the pre-molt stage without high mortality. The final phase of the project will involve the commercial application of molt-inducing techniques.

Investigators hope to develop methods during the course of their research which will assure a steady supply of peeler crabs for the lucrative softshell market in the future.

NEVER burn charcoal inside a tent, camper, van, car, truck, or other enclosure. The carbon monoxide can kill you.

ETV Brief

PINE SEEDLINGS

"Farmweek" will visit the state pine seedling nursery at Winona on a program to air at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 3, on Mississippi ETV. The nursery is operated through the Mississippi Forestry Commission.

Featured will be a conversation with nurseryman Patrick Kraft, who will explain how the program of planting and distributing seedlings operates.

Extension forestry specialist Bob

Daniels will point out advantages to landowners for planting trees, especially possible tax breaks and programs available to assist in seedling planting.

"Farmweek," co-produced by Mississippi ETV and the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, provides, up-to-the-hour farm prices, market analyses, local and national agricultural news and a calendar of upcoming events in the state.

YOUTH SECTION

Bay student serves as model

BY DENA BISNETTE

A Bay High student recently assisted local hairdressers in learning how to do some of the latest styles.

Kristy Clark of Waveland served as a model for Tommy Tusa of LaCombe, La., who demonstrated some new styling techniques for local hairdressers at a workshop sponsored by Hair Works on the Beach.

Tusa, a representative of Paul Mitchell Systems, a commercial hair products firm in Hammond, La., demonstrated several types of cutting and styling tools in addition to discussing new styles and changing attitudes in the hairdressing industry.

He said styles are departing from geometric shapes to become more similar to those worn in the 1960s with more long styles than have been seen in recent years.

"Everything is freestyle right now," he said. "Overlay styles with short sides and backs with longer hair coming over the top are still in but the trend is toward a smooth look, not a spiked one."

He added that many current haircuts are multi-purpose.

"Lots of haircuts are not cut to do just one thing. Besides, a haircut is just something that gives you an advantage when you style it out."

Tusa cut Cook's hair in an overlay style, with short hair on the back and sides and long hair swept back over the top.

He said attitudes among professional hairdressers are changing, with more concentrating on taking the time to talk to customers and individualize hairstyles rather than providing several specific styles that have mass popularity.

"What we're doing is taking them from being mechanics and getting back to actually doing haircuts. There is a definite trend away from volume-type set-ups," Tusa explained.

Tusa practices the latest styles and hairdressing philosophies at a salon he has operated for the past three years in LaCombe.

"I want to get other hairdressers to get a kick out of what they're doing," he commented.

"I prefer to talk to the people who come in and see what they want. I don't want someone to sit down with a paper and pencil and draw what they want me to do. I like someone who will watch me and say, I like what he's doing but I want mine longer on top or shorter here."

ALL ANGLES—Hairdresser Tommy Tusa, standing, inspects model Kristy Clark's current hairstyle from all angles with a little help from mirrors arranged to reflect multiple images.

Campaign opens for de Montluzin Scholarship Fund

The Board of Directors of the Emily de Montluzin Scholarship Fund met recently to plan a fund-raising campaign.

To open the campaign, each board member pledged a contribution to the fund and will enlist the aid of interested persons willing to make a donation to the fund.

Hancock County residents are being asked to contribute $1 to the fund. Donations may be made at any Hancock Bank branch, or by calling any one of the board members.

The campaign was officially opened Wednesday and will continue until July 29, the third anniversary of Emily de Montluzin Day when she was feted upon her retirement as foreign language teacher at Bay Senior High School.

Goal of the organization is to raise $5,000 by that date in order to make the fund self-perpetuating.

A list of all donors will be published in The Sea Coast Echo, however, no amount will be listed.

The aim is to enlist small donations, enabling many in Hancock County to be a part of this scholarship fund.

All monies contributed to the fund are used solely for an annual scholarship to a student from Hancock County who is a graduate of Hancock County schools who excels in foreign language and meets the requirements further set down by the board.

The organization uses none of the donated money for expenses.

Expenses incurred by the board such as stamps, stationery, copies, etc. are borne by board members.

Two scholarships have already been presented to local students, the first to Mary Langenbacker of Waveland, a student at Ole Miss who earned an A in her first year studying French and who is continuing the study of this language.

The second scholarship was granted to George Paul of Diamondhead who finished his first semester at Mississippi State with an A in French and an overall 3.75 average for the semester.

The board has been well pleased with the overall achievements of their first two recipients and hopes others will continue to do as well, said Mary Lee Lagarde, board spokesperson.

Members of the organization feel in order to continue presenting these scholarships each year, an effort must be made to establish a permanent trust which will generate enough income to insure that scholarships will be available each year.

For further information, contact Lagarde or one of the other board members, including Ellis Cuevas, Emily de Montluzin, Dorothy di Benedetto, George di Benedetto, Leo Seal and Richard Thomas.

Pre-registration scheduled for Pass kindergarteners

Pass Christian School District is conducting a pre-registration to determine the number of eligible kindergarten-age children in the district and the number who will be enrolling in kindergarten classes for the 1986-87 school year.

All parents are urged to pre-register their children during this pre-registration period.

Registration will be conducted Monday through Friday, Feb. 3-7 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Principal's Office of the Pass Christian Elementary School and in the Principal's Office of the DeLisle Elementary School.

Contact the school principals' offices at 452-4397 or 255-9681 for further information.

Air Force opportunities listed

The United States Air Force has recently announced opportunities for certain qualified prior service members of the Army, Navy and Marines to enter the Combat Control Career Field.

People with prior service in the Navy Seals; Marine Corps, Force Marine Recon; and Army Special Forces, Rangers or Airborne, may be qualified.

Combat Controllers are trained in four phases. The first is the Air Traffic Control phase at Keesler Air Force Base which lasts 10 weeks.

The second phase is the Jump School at Fort Benning, Ga., which is three weeks long.

The third phase is the Combat Controller phase taught at Pope Air Force Base, N.C., lasting nine weeks.

The final phase is the Scuba Training at Key West or Panama City, Fla.

DECIDING—Hairdresser Tommy Tusa, left, of LaCombe, La., discusses the type of style he plans with his model, Bay High student Kristy Clark, while Hair Works employee Connie Bourgeois looks on. Tusa, a representative of Paul Mitchell Systems of Hammond, La., a hair products firm, recently visited Hair Works in Bay St. Louis to demonstrate some of the latest styling techniques.

CUTTING THE BACK—Tommy Tusa begins styling Kristy Clark's hair by layering the sides and back. Observing his technique is Hair Works Manager Jan Mitchell.

Lung Association sponsoring anti-smoking poster contest

The fifth annual poster art contest on "Health Hazards of Smoking" is being conducted by Mississippi Lung Association.

The contest is designed to emphasize the value of lung health and to give Mississippi students in grades three through 12 an opportunity to participate in an art education project, said Mary Jane Green of Grenada, president of the Christmas Seal voluntary health organization.

Teachers will select preliminary winning posters and submit them to the Mississippi Lung Association for statewide judging no later than Monday, March 24.

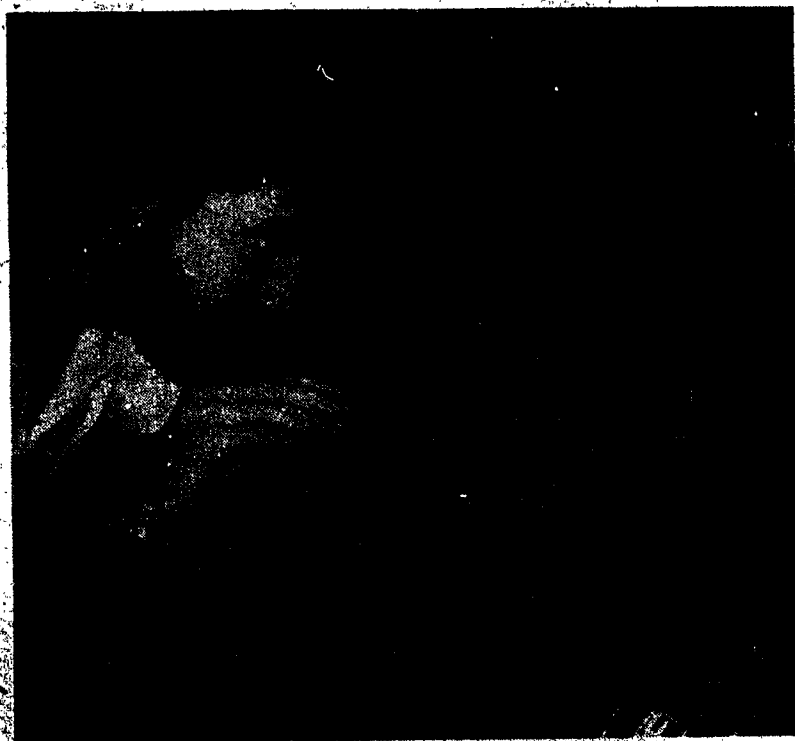

A first place winner will be selected from each grade and prizes will be awarded to these students for their achievement in the art project.

Additionally, from the first place winners, the panel of judges will select one poster to be the Mississippi Lung Association's Anti-Smoking Poster of the Year.

The student whose artwork is chosen for this honor will receive a special award at the 1986 MLA Annual Meeting in Jackson.

Announcements giving complete details of the contest have been sent to all Mississippi schools.

Anyone needing further information may contact the Mississippi Lung Association, Post Office Box 9865, Jackson, Mississippi 39206.

FINISHING TOUCHES—Hairdresser Tommy Tusa puts the finishing touches on the back of Kristy Clark's new hairstyle.

FINISHED PRODUCT—Bay High student Kristy Clark models her new hairstyle, which features short, layered sides, a layered top and a fringed back.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS—Grand Knight Bob Hubbard, right, of Pere Le Due Council No. 1522, Knights of Columbus in Bay St. Louis, presents $25 checks to novices at St. Augustine's Seminary. The funds were made available to the students as Christmas gifts from the local council. Recipients include, from left, Stephan

Brown, Robert Johnson, Bill Burke, Tom Dougherty and Dan McCaully. Not pictured is Phil Leonard. The seminarians are expected to take first vows as missionaries in the Society of The Divine Word in mid-August.

Law admission test review set

A one-day workshop to prepare students to take the Law School Admissions Test (LSAT) will be offered at the University of Southern Mississippi Feb. 1 in Room 300 of College Hall on the USM campus. Special emphasis will be given to answering questions involving logic and analytical thought. Participants will use "Cliff's LSAT Preparation Guide" as a textbook. For more information, contact the USM Division of Lifelong Learning by calling (601) 266-4201.

Lott sponsoring art competition for Fifth District students

Congressman Trent Lott, R-Miss., for the fifth consecutive year is sponsoring an art competition for all Fifth District high school students. The contest is part of 'An Artistic Discovery,' an annual competition implemented by members of the U.S. House of Representatives to recognize the creative talents of young Americans.

The winner of the Fifth Congressional District's competition, sponsored by the South Mississippi Art Association, will receive a $100 cash prize and will enjoy the honor of having the art work displayed for one year in a designated corridor of the U.S. Capitol, Lott said. South Mississippi entries must be submitted by April 15, 1986, to the Congressman's Hattiesburg district office: Room 215, Federal Building, 701 Main Street, Hattiesburg, MS 39401.

The art work must be two-dimensional, no larger than 30 by 30 inches (unframed) and within the following categories: paintings, drawings, collages of prints. Only one entry per student is permitted.

In addition to the recognition for the overall winner, ribbons and certificates will be awarded to the competition's outstanding entries by the South Mississippi Art Association which will be responsible for the judging of Fifth District entries.

"This competition allows us to encourage our young artists whose creative energies are vital to our rich cultural traditions," Lott said. "It is important for us to continue our artistic heritage."

Further information may be obtained by contacting the Congressman's office in Hattiesburg at 582-3246.

Sand Hill Hospital accredited

CPC Sand Hill Hospital, Gulfport, has been awarded a three-year certificate of accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

"JCAH accreditation is evidence of Sand Hill Hospital's efforts to provide quality health care," said Dr. Leonard Ball, medical director.

To become accredited, CPC Sand Hill voluntarily requested an on-site evaluation.

The national standards applied by

JCAH represent a consensus among health care professionals and are periodically updated to evaluate the hospital's efforts to provide quality care.

The surveyors also consult with professional and administrative staffs to help them in their efforts. CPC Sand Hill Hospital is a 60-bed psychiatric and substance abuse hospital for adolescents, ages 12-18, located on Hwy. 49 North in Gulfport.

Girl Scout News

Marilyn Hille, chairman for the Bay-Waveland Girl Scout International Food Fest, announced that the event is scheduled for Feb. 1 from 2 to 4 p.m. at St. Clare School. She is busy contacting leaders to finalize plans. The public is welcome.

In December, Brownie Troop 333, from St. Clare School in Waveland, visited National Food Store's floral department.

At National they learned how to create and arrange a fruit basket. Each girl brought fruit from home and National donated fruit and all the trimmings including the basket. National's floral designer, Beth Goete, gave a demonstration. The girls presented the basket to special friends of the troop.

Senior Troop 27 has started rehearsals for 'Little Women,' which will be presented in March. The Waveland Junior Players are sponsoring the play, which will be produced at the Waveland Civic Center.

Alice Holmes, advisor, will direct this production. Members of this group have been seen in 'Winnie-the-Pooh,' 'Snow White' and 'A Ghost for Rosanda' as well as on the stage of the Waveland Players, Bay Little Theater, and the St. Stanislaus Drama Group.

SOME BIRDS really know how to use their heads; watch them whack away at wood with extraordinary force in search of a home or a meal in Wild America's "Woodpeckers—Nature's Hammerheads," to be aired at 8 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 30 on METV, Ch. 13.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS—Grand Knight Bob Hubbard, right, of Pere Le Duc Council No. 1522, Knights of Columbus in Bay St. Louis, presents $25 checks to novices at St. Augustine's Seminary. The funds were made available to the students as Christmas gifts from the local council. Recipients include, from left, Stephan

Brown, Robert Johnson, Bill Burke, Tom Dougherty and Dan McCaully. Not pictured is Phil Leonard. The seminarians are expected to take first vows as missionaries in the Society of The Divine Word in mid-August.

Law admission test review set

A one-day workshop to prepare students to take the Law School Admissions Test (LSAT) will be offered at the University of Southern Mississippi Feb. 1 in Room 300 of College Hall on the USM campus. Special emphasis will be given to answering questions involving logic and analytical thought.

Participants will use "Cliff's LSAT Preparation Guide" as a textbook. For more information, contact the USM Division of Lifelong Learning by calling (601) 266-4201.

Lott sponsoring art competition for Fifth District students

Congressman Trent Lott, R-Miss., for the fifth consecutive year is sponsoring an art competition for all Fifth District high school students.

The contest is part of 'An Artistic Discovery,' an annual competition implemented by members of the U.S. House of Representatives to recognize the creative talents of young Americans.

The winner of the Fifth Congressional District's competition, cosponsored by the South Mississippi Art Association, will receive a $100 cash prize and will enjoy the honor of having the art work displayed for one year in a designated corridor of the U.S. Capitol, Lott said.

South Mississippi entries must be submitted by April 15, 1986, to the Congressman's Hattiesburg district office: Room 215, Federal Building, 701 Main Street, Hattiesburg, MS 39401.

The art work must be two-dimensional, no larger than 30 by 30 inches (unframed) and within the following categories: paintings, drawings, collages of prints. Only one entry per student is permitted.

In addition to the recognition for the overall winner, ribbons and certificates will be awarded to the competition's outstanding entries by the South Mississippi Art Association which will be responsible for the judging of Fifth District entries.

"This competition allows us to encourage our young artists whose creative energies are vital to our rich cultural traditions," Lott said. "It is important for us to continue our artistic heritage."

Further information may be obtained by contacting the Congressman's office in Hattiesburg at 582-3246.

Sand Hill Hospital accredited

CPC Sand Hill Hospital, Gulfport, has been awarded a three-year certificate of accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

"JCAH accreditation is evidence of Sand Hill Hospital's efforts to provide quality health care," said Dr. Leonard Ball, medical director.

To become accredited, CPC Sand Hill voluntarily requested an on-site evaluation.

The national standards applied by

JCAH represent a consensus among health care professionals and are periodically updated to evaluate the hospital's efforts to provide quality care.

The surveyors also consult with professional and administrative staffs to help them in their efforts.

CPC Sand Hill Hospital is a 60-bed psychiatric and substance abuse hospital for adolescents, ages 12-18, located on Hwy. 49 North in Gulfport.

Youth Brief

UM CAMPUS OPEN HOUSE

Open houses, job placement seminars, fine arts auditions and financial aid counseling will be part of the first "Junior College Day" at The University of Mississippi on Friday, Feb. 7.

Students are also invited to stay overnight in student residence halls. To arrange for a room or for more information, call Beckett Howorth at the Office of Admissions, telephone (601) 232-7226 or toll-free in Mississippi 1-800-222-5102.

Girl Scout News

Marilyn Hille, chairman for the Bay-Waveland Girl Scout International Food Fest, announced that the event is scheduled for Feb. 1 from 2 to 4 p.m. at St. Clare School. She is busy contacting leaders to finalize plans. The public is welcome.

In December, Brownie Troop 333, from St. Clare School in Waveland, visited National Food Store's floral department.

At National they learned how to create and arrange a fruit basket. Each girl brought fruit from home and National donated fruit and all the trimmings including the basket. National's floral designer, Beth Goete, gave a demonstration. The girls presented the basket to special friends of the troop.

Senior Troop 27 has started rehearsals for 'Little Women,' which will be presented in March. The Waveland Junior Players are sponsoring the play, which will be produced at the Waveland Civic Center.

Alice Holmes, advisor, will direct this production. Members of this group have been seen in 'Winnie-the-Pooh,' 'Snow White' and 'A Ghost for Rosanda' as well as on the stage of the Waveland Players, Bay Little Theater, and the St. Stanislaus Drama Group.

SOME BIRDS really know how to use their heads; watch them whack away at wood with extraordinary force in search of a home or a meal in Wild America's "Woodpeckers—Nature's Hammerheads," to be aired at 8 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 30 on METV, Ch. 13.

POTBELLY STOVE

These old fashion potbelly stoves are constructed of all cast iron and will burn both wood and coal. An ash door at bottom for easy cleaning. Long flared-top facilitates cooking; pan, kettle, shaker grate included.

YOUR BIG B PHARMACY GUARANTEES THE LOWEST PRESCRIPTION PRICE OR WE WILL TRIPLE THE DIFFERENCE IN CASH!

We're so confident our prescription prices are the lowest that we offer a triple difference guarantee. We'll pay you triple the difference if you should pay more at Big B Drugs than at any other pharmacy in town. If after you get a prescription filled at your Big B Drugs Pharmacy you have the identical prescription (same name brand or generic drug quality and strength) filled anywhere else in town for less, within the last 60 days, bring the other pharmacy's prescription container, label and receipt to your Big B Drugs pharmacy. We will give you triple the difference between the price you paid at the other pharmacy and the price you paid at Big B Drugs.

National school group nominates Mississippi man

Harold Fisher, president of the Mississippi School Boards Association, has been nominated by the National School Boards Association to serve on its 14-member board of directors.

The NSBA is a federation of the 50 state school boards associations.

The election of the director will take place during the April 4-8, 1986 NSBA national convention. If elected, Fisher will be the first Mississippian to serve on the NSBA board.

Fisher is on the Tiptah County Board of Education, having served since 1977 and been reelected one other term to that board.

He has also been on the MSBA Board of Directors and has served as secretary-treasurer and vice president before being selected as its ninth president.

The Mississippi School Boards Association is an association of public school boards of education and trustees. The organization was founded in 1971 and now represents 151 of the states' 165 school boards.

For additional information contact: John Hartman, Executive Director MSBA, P.O. Box 203, Clinton, MS 39056, (601) 924-2001.

OLD FORGOTTEN ACCIDENT

Research shows that most sufferers of backache are victims of conditions often resulting from some old forgotten injury. Strain on the skeletal or muscular systems of the spine can allow the vertebrae to slip into abnormal positions, "pinching" or irritating nerves, thus impairing their function and causing pain. Left untreated, the spinal disc can degenerate and calcify, causing even more interference and pain.

Begin the New Year Without Last Year's Bills

A Bill Consolidation Loan Could Do It.

By consolidating all the bills you owe and arranging a loan for the amount to pay them off, it's possible to reduce your monthly payments 1/3 to 1/2 the amount you're paying now. Plus, you'd have just one convenient monthly payment at one place instead of a mailbox full of bills every month.

It's a good way to start the New Year. Call on us today.

DOUBLE

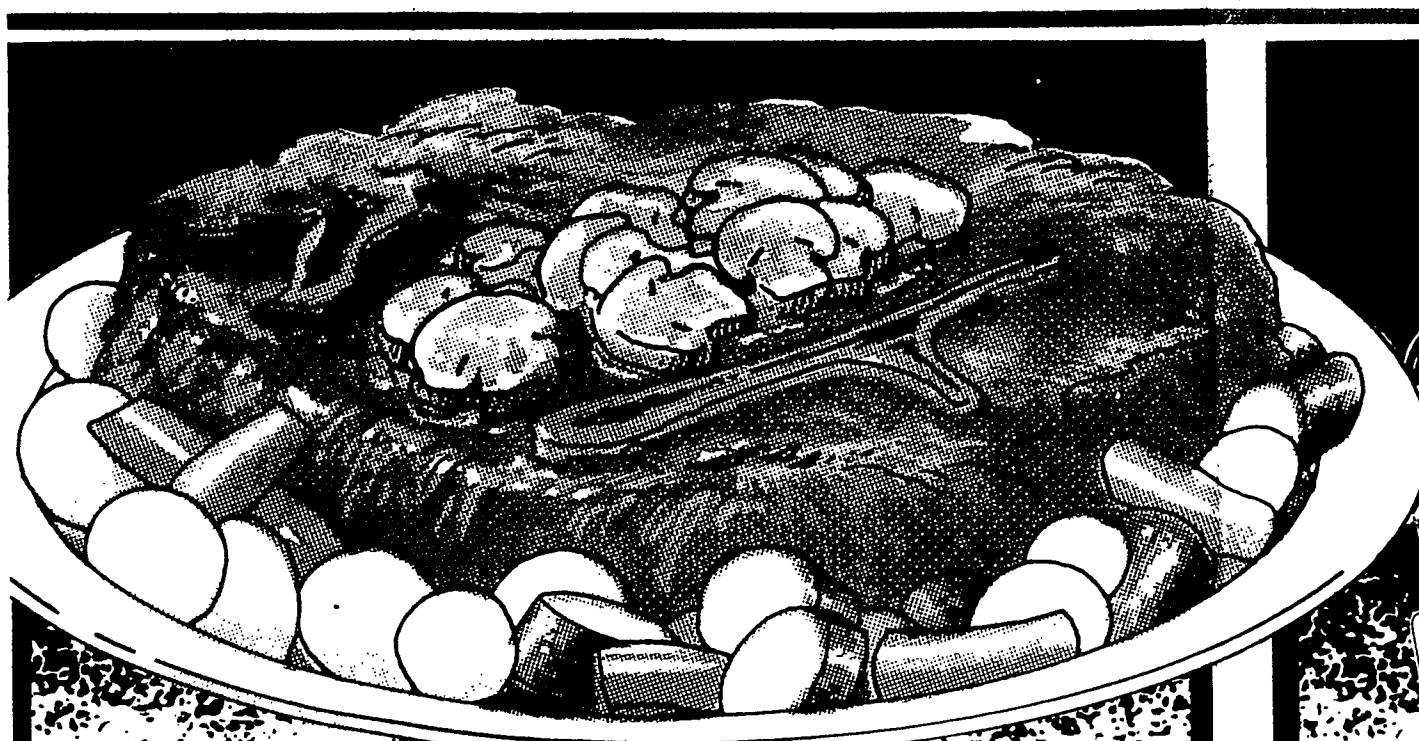

Manufacturers' Coupons

Redeem manufacturers' "cents-off" coupons by buying the items and we will DOUBLE the value stated on the coupons. Our "DOUBLE SAVINGS" applies to manufacturers' coupons you clip from newspapers and magazines not "free" tobacco or other retailers' coupons. The only exceptions are listed here:

- We will DOUBLE the value of manufacturers' coupons up to 50. Coupons over 50 will be redeemed at face value.
- Only one coffee coupon (including vacuum and instant) may be double per order.
- If the double coupon value exceeds the retail price of the item you will receive the item free with no refund.
- One coupon per item will be redeemed for double the value.
- All others will be redeemed at face value.
